

On Eve of Talks—Optimism

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

PARIS (UPI)—American and North Vietnamese negotiators were flying into Paris today to open preliminary talks Friday that may expand into a full peace conference and lead to an end to years of bloodshed in Vietnam.

Both sides and their French hosts expressed optimism. But experienced diplomats predicted long, weary weeks perhaps months, of frustrating negotiations before a peace settlement could be hoped for.

U.S. officials said they doubt failure here could mean resumption of full scale bombing of North Vietnam and even heavier fighting in the South with all the attendant risks of possible conflict with the Soviet Union and Communist China.

North Vietnam's chief delegate, former foreign minister Xuan Thuy, was scheduled to arrive first at 10:30 a.m. EDT, about three and one-half hours later than originally expected. In a Moscow stopover his Kremlin greeter told Thuy at the airport, "You have a big job ahead of you." Thuy replied, "Big indeed," and grinned.

Harriman Arrives Today

U.S. Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman, one of Washington's most skilled and experienced diplomats in negotiating with the Communists, was arriving later, about 3 p. m. EDT.

All sides voiced the customary preconference optimism hopes for success.

Thuy's deputy, Col. Ha Van Lau, who reached Paris Tuesday at the head of Hanoi's advance party, said he was "very optimistic."

The United States' newly appointed ambassador to France, Sargent Shriver, arriving here Wednesday evening to take up his post, expressed hope the talks will be remembered "as the first step on the road to peace in Vietnam."

Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville of France told the French cabinet, if agreement could be reached to end bombing of the North, the preliminary talks could merge at once into a full peace conference.

Bombing Roadblock
But experienced diplomats predicted the question of halting all bombing would prove an immediate major roadblock on which the talks could bog down or even collapse.

Hanoi has declared repeatedly the United States must end all bombing of the North without any strings attached before full peace talks can begin.

Harriman was expected to insist on some Communist concessions in return—perhaps a pledge to cut down the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops and supplies or even to withdraw some North Vietnamese troops from the South.

Washington was known to be deeply concerned by sharply increased infiltration of troops and supplies from the North down to Ho Chi Minh trail recently.

"We seek nothing more than an honorable settlement... we will accept nothing less," That was the pledge issued this morning by President Johnson as U.S. negotiators set out for Paris.

Speaking on the eve of the departure of Ambassador Harriman and his team, the President declared at a White House dinner for Thailand's Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn:

Not Ignoring Buildup

"We will negotiate in good faith; but we will never abandon our commitments or compromise the future of Asia at the negotiating table."

"We will sit down in Paris as fair-minded and open-handed men. However hard or long the labor, we will not tire in keeping our great trust."

At the same time, the President made it clear to Hanoi that the United States is not ignoring the record North Vietnamese buildup in the South.

"I hope our own people and our adversaries realize increased infiltration and sending new MIGs to new airfields south of the 20th parallel will not go unnoticed," he said.

Growing Impatience

The statement came amid indications of growing impatience at the White House with the latest Communist activities in South Vietnam, and suggestions that consideration might be given to sealing off the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong if the infiltration continued.

Fear in Saigon

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong hit hard at Saigon from three sides today on the eve of the Paris peace talks, pushing closer to the center of the South Vietnamese capital than at any time since the start of the five-day-old Communist offensive.

The U.S. Command announced 2,540 enemy soldiers have been killed since the assault began last Sunday.

Thousands of anguished, frightened civilians streamed into the center of the city, swelling the ranks of the homeless to more than 50,000.

The toll of civilian dead and wounded mounted to more than 2,000.

It was Saigon's worst day since Sunday, and new fears swept the city. Jets roared across the heart of the city, and moments later the thud of 500-pound bombs was heard. They shook the downtown section.

Blocks of Saigon's southern and eastern sections were destroyed under the pounding of U.S. and South Vietnamese dive-bombers and helicopter gunships. Some houses were set afire by the Viet Cong to cover their movements.

The U.S. Command called in hundreds more infantrymen, tanks and helicopter gunships to meet the Viet Cong drive, which late Wednesday had appeared to be tapering off. There were reports, however, that the Viet Cong had brought up reinforcements through the night, covering their infiltration with diversionary shelling at other points.

Despite the U.S. claim that American and South Vietnamese soldiers were killing 10 of the enemy for every American or South Vietnamese soldier slain in the Saigon fighting, the Viet Cong had plenty of punch left.

It was the first time in the Viet Cong's five-day-old "peace talks" offensive that the attack had come from the east, hitting in the dock area just across the river from the former U.S. Embassy building and within striking distance of the heart of the city.

Billowing black smoke towered over the edge of the city, but business went on as usual in most of Saigon.

Civilian casualties soared. A fire blazing at the eastern edge of Cholon, the Chinese quarter, burned out of control. The wind blew the flames eastward toward the allied forces, pushing them back toward an area on the southern edge of the city where three battalions from the U.S. 9th Infantry Division—2,000 men—were battling to root out Viet Cong soldiers firing from buildings, rooftops and trees.

South Vietnamese officers said the Viet Cong brought up reinforcements about 4 a.m. all along the southern edge of the city, covering their advance with rocket attacks to the west.

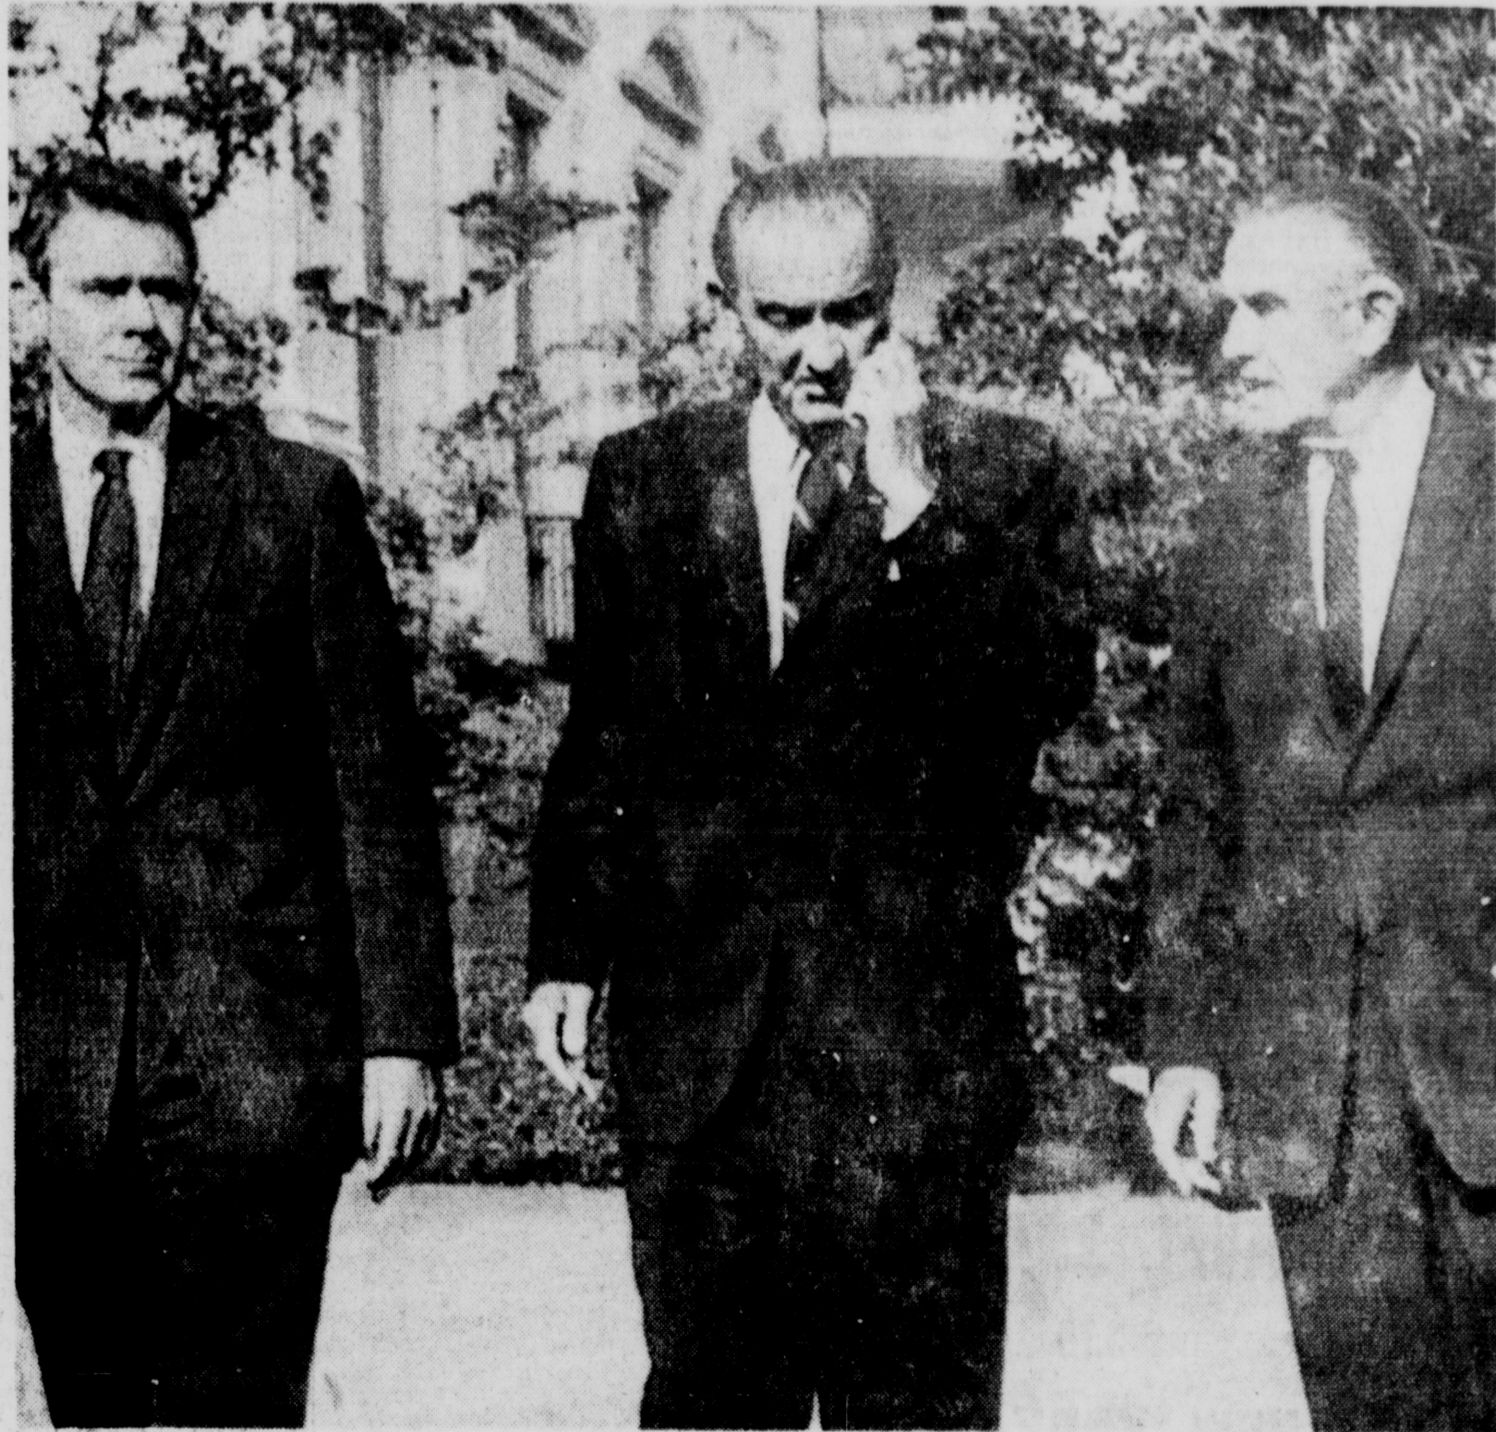

Centers Near 'Y' Bridge

The fighting was centered east and south of the "Y" Bridge, on one of the routes from the Mekong Delta into Saigon.

U.S. casualties totaled at least 41 dead and 357 wounded, but this was believed to be incomplete. The South Vietnamese have reported 181 of their men killed and 608 wounded.

With preliminary peace talks scheduled to open in Paris Friday between the United States and North Vietnam, the Viet Cong was believed planning to keep the pressure on in an attempt to show it was still a factor to be dealt with and to improve the Communist position at the bargaining table.

The heaviest action outside the Saigon area Wednesday was reported at the northern end of the country, below the ends of the demilitarized zone.

The Wait Drags On At Entrance of Mine

HOMINY FALLS, W. Va. (AP)—The families of 25 coal miners—their men entombed for the fourth day in a flooded mine—huddled around its entrance today believing rescue near.

The crowd swelled to more than 500 about midnight as rumor after rumor swept the nearby mining hamlets that rescuers were closer to reaching the men than they would admit. But officials stuck to their estimate that the earliest that enough water can be pumped out to reach the men is 6 p.m. The mine was flooded Monday when the walls to an adjoining abandoned mine burst.

Even then, rescue officials warned, it might not be possible to bring the 13 men nearest the mouth of the mine out immediately. They have been cramped since Monday noon in a cold, damp area where only a few could stand. And it was questionable whether they can come out without aid.

The mine passageway is only 36 inches high for most of its two-mile reach into the mountain. Two men are a half-mile farther in than the 13. Another half mile deeper are 10 others, presumed dead.

Ambulances arriving late Wednesday night set off the first wave of anticipation. But H. E. Sundstrom, overnight supervisor of rescue operations said of an imminent rescue, "It definitely is not so. Whoever called for those ambulances didn't do so on my orders."

The rescuers encountered difficulty in trying to put an 800-gallon-a-minute pump into operation where the water was deepest. They hit bedrock with their drills 200 feet from the shaft. Ten other pumps were continuing to take out water at the rate of 3,200 gallons a minute.

Jablonski Won't Run; Will Support Naccarato

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Alderman Frank Jablonski (R-Fourth Ward) withdrew from the aldermanic race in the new Eighth Ward and threw his complete support to John Naccarato (R-Third Ward), the unofficial Republican designee for alderman in the Eighth. Naccarato was designated in an unofficial caucus last week by the ward's four Republican committeemen. Stanley Colvin, John Sangaline and Joseph Hoffman of East Chester Street and William Mohr of Delaware Avenue.

Jablonski, while bowing out of the aldermanic race, will remain in politics. He will replace Colvin as a committeeman in the ward.

The young Republican (he's now 23) burst upon the political scene last year, defeating incumbent Emilio Primo Jr. of the Fourth Ward in a major upset.

Coincidentally, Primo is the Democratic candidate in the new Eighth Ward and will face Naccarato in this fall's elections for a one-year term.

Jablonski, elected at the age of 22, the youngest alderman in Kingston history, was asked why he withdrew. "Primarily, because John (Naccarato) is the senior alderman," he said. "I would expect that if I had been the senior alderman John would have withdrawn."

Jablonski emphasized that he is still the Fourth Ward alderman and would continue to serve his constituents to the best of his ability. "In fact,"

he said, "I'll be able to devote more time to the residents of the Fourth Ward now that I'm out of the race."

While Jablonski is out of the race as an active candidate he said he will campaign for Naccarato and urged all his supporters to vote for the three-term Third Ward Republican.

Naccarato said Jablonski's personal sacrifice in the interests of party unity will insure a Republican victory in the Eighth Ward this fall. "Frank has worked hard for the people of his ward," Naccarato said. "His support of my candidacy will be most appreciated."

OCS Budget Beaten, 2 Others Pass

By LYNN MULVANEY

Two out of three area school budgets submitted to voters yesterday were passed and a third went down to defeat in the Ontario District.

Voters of Ellenville sanctioned a $2.8 million budget by a 62-vote margin and Wallkill voters approved a $2.6 million budget by a 65-vote plurality.

At Ontario, the $3.9 million budget met defeat by 80 votes. With only 1,412 of the 2,308 registered voters turning out at the polls, the measure was defeated 741 to 661.

In school board elections which took place in several districts throughout the county the results were as follows:

Ontario—Douglas Gross of Hurley won over George Mabee with a 132-vote plurality. Margaret Atherton of Woodstock was victorious over three other opponents seeking a board seat being vacated by Herbert Shultis. Mrs. Atherton won over her closest opponent, Allan Simmons with a plurality of 86 votes. Also seeking the same seat were Richard Scott and Alexander R. Brown.

Ellenville—Incumbent Jack Siegel, seeking a fourth term was victorious by 36 votes over William Eckert, former member of the village board. Voters also named John Gillette and John Killeen who were unopposed. Killeen will fill a vacancy created by Sanford Rubinstein who did not seek another term.

Ellenville voters also approved a $71,130 library budget and elected three-time incumbent Milton Townsend to the library board. Townsend successfully defeated Gary Siamon, Ellenville faculty member for the post by a vote of 633 to 542. The electors also trumped a parochial school transportation proposal by a vote of 1113 to 253.

Robert Herb and Charles P. Emerick were reelected and John Bragg, a newcomer to the board was named for a five year term.

An attempt to unseat Herb and Bragg was made through a write-in in which Ethel Donaldson received 24 votes.

New Paltz—Joseph Foley and Mary Jane Ordway were unopposed with Mrs. Ordway seeking the seat being vacated by Myra Stillman. In a contest, Joan Bivona defeated Anthony Frascinella 325 to 119.

Highland—John Elia incumbent, seeking another five year term and unopposed, was elected.

Wallkill—Two Board vacancies were filled by Henry Van Houten and Robert Wyncoop who were unopposed.

Legislators Have Several Topics on Slate

A wide variety of topics will be offered on the agenda of the County Legislature which meets 8 o'clock tonight in the legislator's rooms of the county office building.

Authorization of a $2,517,500 bond issue for the construction of several new bridges, the start of test borings for Phase 2 of the community college, revival of the tax map plan for the county and various other topics will be discussed.

One resolution of lesser importance will be authorization to publish 500 copies of the proceedings (minutes) and other pertinent facts about the final days of the old Board of Supervisors.

OCS Budget Beaten, 2 Others Pass

By LYNN MULVANEY

Two out of three area school budgets submitted to voters yesterday were passed and a third went down to defeat in the Ontario District.

Voters of Ellenville sanctioned a $2.8 million budget by a 62-vote margin and Wallkill voters approved a $2.6 million budget by a 65-vote plurality.

At Ontario, the $3.9 million budget met defeat by 80 votes. With only 1,412 of the 2,308 registered voters turning out at the polls, the measure was defeated 741 to 661.

In school board elections which took place in several districts throughout the county the results were as follows:

Ontario—Douglas Gross of Hurley won over George Mabee with a 132-vote plurality. Margaret Atherton of Woodstock was victorious over three other opponents seeking a board seat being vacated by Herbert Shultis. Mrs. Atherton won over her closest opponent, Allan Simmons with a plurality of 86 votes. Also seeking the same seat were Richard Scott and Alexander R. Brown.

Ellenville—Incumbent Jack Siegel, seeking a fourth term was victorious by 36 votes over William Eckert, former member of the village board. Voters also named John Gillette and John Killeen who were unopposed. Killeen will fill a vacancy created by Sanford Rubinstein who did not seek another term.

Ellenville voters also approved a $71,130 library budget and elected three-time incumbent Milton Townsend to the library board. Townsend successfully defeated Gary Siamon, Ellenville faculty member for the post by a vote of 633 to 542. The electors also trotted a parochial school transportation proposal by a vote of 1113 to 253.

Robert Herb and Charles P. Emerick were reelected and John Bragg, a newcomer to the board was named for a five year term.

An attempt to unseat Herb and Bragg was made through a write-in in which Ethel Donaldson received 24 votes.

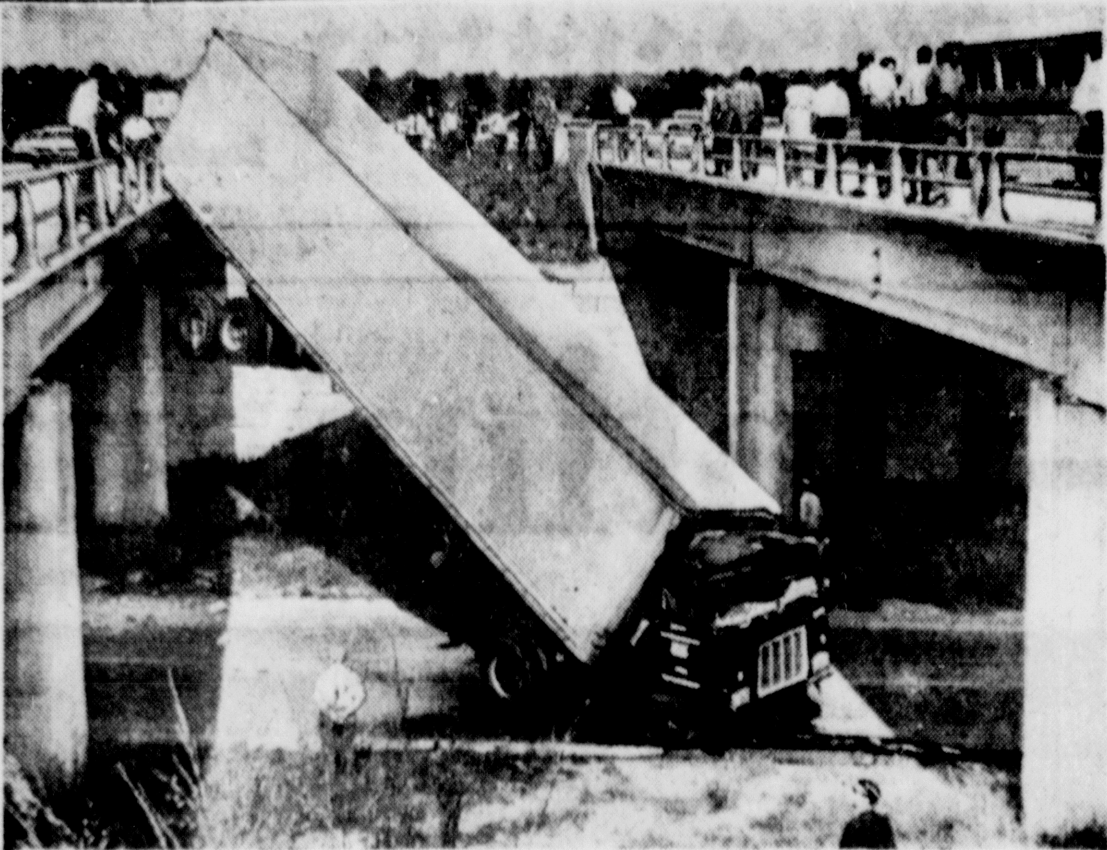

New Paltz—Joseph Foley and Mary Jane Ordway were unopposed with Mrs. Ordway seeking the seat being vacated by Myra Stillman. In a contest, Joan Bivona defeated Anthony Frasciella 325 to 119.

Highland—John Elia incumbent, seeking another five year term and unopposed, was elected.

Wallkill—Two Board vacancies were filled by Henry Van Houten and Robert Wyncoop who were unopposed.

The defeated Ontario budget will be reconsidered by members of the board at a regular meeting May 20 at Boiceville, old Snyder, superintendent.

At that time the public is invited "to come and tell us what they think of the budget" according to Dr. Harwood. He said a meeting has also been scheduled for June 3 when a hearing will be given a revised budget. Registration for another budget vote will be held June 6 and the vote will be taken June 13.

WHAT HAPPENED—Driver James Wilson, 26, of Tifton, Ga., had a wreckage crew scratching their heads in Georgia trying to figure out what to do with his rig. Wilson's truck ran through a bridge railing on Interstate 20, down between the two bridges and landed on the highway below leaving the trailer hanging almost by its tag. He was treated for minor injuries at an Atlanta hospital and released. The trailer was taken from its precarious position later. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Jablonski Won't Run; Will Support Naccarato

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Alderman Frank Jablonski (R-Fourth Ward) withdrew from the aldermanic race in the new Eighth Ward and threw his complete support to John Naccarato (R-Third Ward), the unofficial Republican designee.

Naccarato was designated in an unofficial caucus last week by the ward's four Republican committeemen. Stanley Colvin, John Sangaline and Joseph Hoffman of East Chester Street and William Mohr of Delaware Avenue.

Jablonski, while bowing out of the aldermanic race, will remain in politics. He will replace Colvin as a committeeman in the ward.

The young Republican (he's now 23) burst upon the political scene last year, defeating incumbent Emilio Primo Jr. of the Fourth Ward in a major upset.

Coincidentally, Primo is the Democratic candidate in the new Eighth Ward and will face Naccarato in this fall's elections for a one-year term.

Jablonski, elected at the age of 22, the youngest alderman in Kingston history, was asked why he withdrew. "Primarily, because John (Naccarato) is the senior alderman," he said. "I would expect that if I had been the senior alderman John would have withdrawn."

Jablonski emphasized that he is still the Fourth Ward alderman and would continue to serve his constituents to the best of his ability. "In fact,"

he said, "I'll be able to devote more time to the residents of the Fourth Ward now that I'm out of the race."

While Jablonski is out of the race as an active candidate he said he will campaign for Naccarato and urged all his supporters to vote for the three-term Third Ward Republican.

Naccarato said Jablonski's personal sacrifice in the interests of party unity will insure a Republican victory in the Eighth Ward this fall. "Frank has worked hard for the people of his ward," Naccarato said. "His support of my candidacy will be most appreciated."

May 18 Adjournment Eyed by Legislature

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature's leaders set their sights today on May 18 as the target date for final adjournment of the 1968 session.

Several sticky questions still awaited answers, including whether to raise the state's liquor tax and use the revenue to restore some of the medical benefits that were cut in an economy move earlier this year. The lawmakers also will have to decide whether to create more judges, clamp strict controls on the sale of rifles and shotguns and authorize a program to foster development of nuclear-powered electric generating plants.

But legislative leaders of both parties seemed confident that the Senate and Assembly could dispose of these and other problems if they worked at them steadily from next Monday through Saturday.

As the Democratic-controlled Assembly wound up this work week Wednesday, Speaker Anthony J. Travia advised his members to be prepared to spend all of next week on the job, driving for adjournment. In the Republican-led Senate, Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges issued a similar dictum.

"Bring shirts," chirped Senate Finance Chairman Warren M. Anderson, amid general laughter.

Rank- and file members of both houses cheerfully caught the spirit of the adjournment push after the grueling Tuesday-Wednesday session that culminated in solution of the prolonged budget problem.

After much haggling, they agreed to support Rockefeller's $5-billion-plus budget by approving about $150 million in tax increases — higher income taxes on upper-bracket taxpayers, a 2-cent-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax and a penny-a-gallon boost in the gasoline tax.

Gov. Rockefeller, who had demanded more tax revenue, still was hoping that the legislature would honor his request for a 10-cent-a-fifth boost in the liquor tax.

But Travia refused to consider raising the liquor tax unless Republicans agreed to restore outpatient hospital benefits for Medicaid recipients in the 21-65 age bracket. They lost this privilege in the economy cut-back engineered earlier by the GOP.

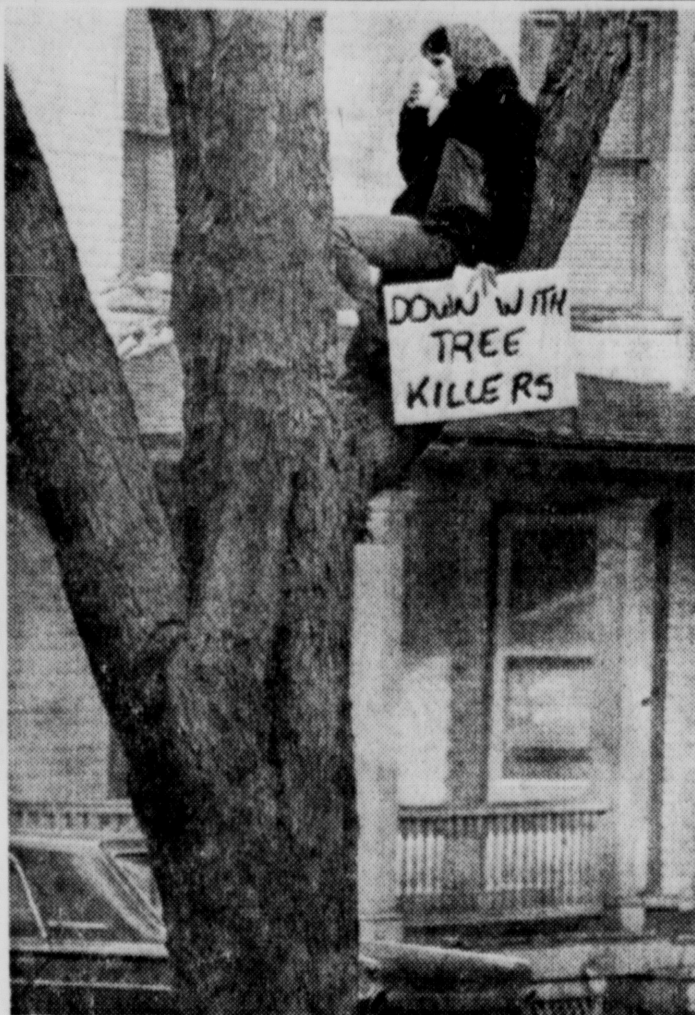

Brydges, the legislature's ranking Republican, said he and his GOP colleagues in the Senate would weigh the Medicaid proposal next week.

But the Assembly's Republican minority leader, Perry B. Duryea, dashed cold water on the idea.

"We would be strongly opposed," Duryea told The Associated Press. "Our members would not be willing to increase taxes further, for this purpose."

The prospect of a Medicaid restoration thus seemed remote. Meanwhile, the Senate staged a two-hour debate over a Brydges bill that would deny state scholarships and other financial aid to college students convicted of on-campus crimes during demonstrations. Drafted in the midst of the disturbances at Columbia University, it was approved by the Senate finally, 41-14, over strong Democratic objections.

Travia was prepared to bury the measure in the Assembly Rules Committee, which he controls. He has said that he is completely opposed to such a broad, punitive approach.

PROTESTOR — An unidentified young woman sips coffee as she demonstrates one sure-fire way to prevent a tree from being cut down. Scene took place on South Atherton Street at Penn State University. Officials want the tree cut down to make way for a sidewalk widening and drainage project. But stiff local resistance has forced the officials to take a new vote on the subject. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Proposed Arterial Under New Attack

The proposed arterial route through two townships and the City of Kingston under consideration by the State Department of Transportation is under attack from the Town of Esopus.

Esopus Town Board at its meeting Wednesday night at Town Hall, Port Ewen received a letter of recommendation for changes in the route through Port Ewen from its Planning Board. The Planning Board after considerable study has recommended to the Department of Transportation that two additional access roads be required to alleviate inconvenience and traffic snarls. The access road to the lower portion of Port Ewen is not acceptable and termed inconvenient to the residents of Sleightsburg.

Town of Ulster at a recent hearing also listed several recommendations to the plan submitted by the state's engineers. Kingston has been pressing for a public hearing in Kingston to determine the fate of residents who will be displaced from their homes which are in the right of way of the arterial.

At the Esopus meeting last night it was reported that the township is entering into an agreement with a dealer to solve the junk car problem. Under the agreement the dealer will have the responsibility of carting the cars away and arrange for final disposal. No further details were reported. Supervisor George H. Freer has been authorized to request a traffic control study by the state at the New Salem Road-Route 213 intersection to determine if some form of traffic signal is required.

It was reported at the session that answers have been received from property owners who have buildings in disrepair and found objectionable under the town's building code ordinance. Five of the owners have indicated they will either raze the buildings in question or make repairs to conform to the code.

Supervisor Freer reported that the town is studying a proposal to place the town's 15

F111A Crash

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A seventh F111A fighter-bomber, the $5-million swing-wing jet developed from the controversial TFX program, has crashed.

Both pilots parachuted safely as the camouflaged plane carrying secret combat gear ploughed into the desert Wednesday and was demolished.

The Air Force described the flight as a routine training mission and released no details of the crash 60 miles north of Las Vegas.

The plane was similar to three lost recently in Vietnam.

It was the eighth plane lost of two types developed from the TFX, the tactical fighter experimental program pushed by Robert S. McNamara when he was secretary of the defense. McNamara said he aimed at incorporating a common basic design for both the Air Force and Navy.

In 1967 a Navy version of the plane, designated F111B, crashed during a test program at Long Island, N.Y., killing two civilian test pilots.

Three F111A Air Force versions, carrying top secret bombing and navigational equipment on Vietnam combat missions out of Takhli, Thailand, were lost shortly after the first arrived in Southeast Asia last March.

Although six planes were assigned to Takhli, operational testing of the fighter-bomber has not been completed at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., to develop tactics and doctrines for combat operation.

Neither the wreckage nor the crew was found of the first F111A to crash in Southeast Asia, within three days after going into combat.

The second crashed several days later in Thailand, and its crew was rescued. This crash was attributed to a capsule of sealing material lodged in the flight controls and combat missions were resumed after the F111s were grounded briefly.

Community Concerts

Music is recognized as a human necessity. It is not just a luxury or mere entertainment. Great music must be maintained by public spirited citizens. The Community Concert Association is one of the leading organizations with such a purpose.

Other musical activities, whether it be church choirs, glee clubs, school bands and orchestras or other series of concerts offered by local impresarios, all have benefited by Community Concerts.

In a recent survey it has been shown that there is an average of over 30 per cent more such musical activities in cities after they have their Community Concert Association than they had before.

This has been true in Kingston. It was over 30 years ago that a group of dedicated people decided to bring programs of cultural significance to this area. Due to the untiring efforts of such people as Mrs. Eloise P. Lovatt, Mrs. Henry L. Bibby, N. LeVan Haver, Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb and other prominent citizens of the community that a series of concerts was presented for area residents. The first concert was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, and among the artists who appeared on concert were Sigmund Spaeth, Richard Crooks, and Nelson Eddy.

In 1928 an organization called Community Concert Association, headed by Mr. Spaeth, was formed to serve eastern audiences. Kingston became one of the first cities in the United States to form a Community Concert Association.

Since that time it has continually progressed, as a fully voluntary, non-profit organization. All monies received during the membership campaign week are used entirely for the presentation of concerts. Community Concerts is unique in that it operates on a no-profit, no-loss basis thus eliminating the necessity of patron and donor contributions to successfully present programs. The membership fee is nominal, allowing all persons of the community to enjoy the finest professional entertainment available. Community Concerts have made music a living thing in the community rather than a treasure to be enjoyed by a small minority.

This is Community Concert Week in the Kingston area and we take this occasion to urge support of the Kingston Community Concert Association membership campaign. It is through the work and continued support of local citizens that all can enjoy the greatest music performed by outstanding artists.

Mail Gun Sales Hit

While Congress cringes and politicians panic in the face of pressure from the National Rifle Association, two of this country's largest business firms have shown the courage to consider the public.

As a result, Montgomery Ward & Co. and Sears, Roebuck & Co. have tightened restrictions on sale of guns.

Montgomery Ward will no longer mail directly to customers firearms, pellet and BB guns, or ammunition.

Customers who order these goods by mail or telephone will be requested to pick up their orders personally from the stores. They also must bring proof of age.

Sears, Roebuck will no longer sell guns or ammunition to persons under 21 or accept mail or telephone orders for the merchandise.

Guns and ammunition must be ordered in person and picked up in person, with proof of age required. We commend both companies for showing more interest in the public than our elected representatives have so far.

Soviet Weapons Flow

It is said that the Soviet Union welcomes the start of peace negotiations between the United States and North Vietnam, but if that is so, Moscow has a strange way of showing it. American forces sweeping the Ashau Valley uncovered a cache of new Soviet weapons, ranging from 122 mm ammunition for artillery with a 14-mile range to transistorized mine detectors.

The ammunition, still in original Soviet packing crates, and the mobile 122 mm artillery exceed by far the reach of any weapon now in the hands of the North Vietnamese. Its range is better than double that of Soviet rockets now used by the Vietcong and it is far more accurate and deadly.

The point is that the Soviet apparently has not slowed down the supplies of death dealing weapons and ammunition to the North Vietnamese. This means that Communists will fight while they talk, and they are seeking a victory that would strengthen their hand at the bargaining table.

Look Away, Look Away!

David Lawrence Says

European Countries Will Become Involved

WASHINGTON — Peace in Vietnam depends not merely on what happens in the Paris meetings during the next few months but on world opinion. If history is to be repeated and powerful nations ignore the plight of the peoples of both North and South Vietnam who really want freedom and independence, the chances are the country will remain divided and the risk of another war will be increased.

The best thing that has occurred thus far is the selection of Paris as the place for peace negotiations. The United States did not name Paris, but officials in the American government are gratified that the North Vietnamese chose it.

Practically every Vietnamese leader of consequence with an education abroad went to a college or university in France. The French have had their fingers in the affairs of Indo-China for more than 150 years. French is a second language of all Vietnam and its inhabitants. Most of its schools were run by the French and were taught in that language.

French business interests developed the big coal deposits in North Vietnam, and even though France had to abandon its colonial power in Indo-China in 1954, contacts of French businessmen have continued.

Ho Chi-Minh learned about Communism in Paris just after World War I, and there Met Chou En-Lai of Red China. When the Vietnamese think of Europe, they think of Paris. When they have money and the opportunity to travel, the first place they want to go is Paris.

The North Vietnamese Communists especially feel comfortable in Paris because there is a strong Communist party in France. President De Gaulle may be expected to play a role behind the scenes. He may or may not be friendly to the American viewpoint, but he certainly sees an advantage to the prestige of France if his regime should be instrumental in making peace in Vietnam.

Perhaps the principal development which will puzzle the American people will be the intensification of fighting in Vietnam from time to time. This, of course, has a specific purpose. The North Vietnamese want to make sure that any slowdown of military operations by them will not be interpreted as a willingness to surrender.

Meanwhile, there is in Washington somewhat the same attitude toward the fighting, but for different reasons. Senator John Stennis, chairman of the Preparedness Subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in a speech on Monday:

"When we stopped bombing North Vietnam, we opened up the war for the North Vietnamese to rebuild their roads, bridges, docks, factories, and other facilities necessary to the conduct of the war."

"When we called off the bombing we gave them the opportunity to rebuild that damage without fear of further attack and they are using that time to their very best advantage. Our intelligence reports show that they are working night and day with floodlights to repair vital bridges that are part of the pipeline used to transport war supplies to South Vietnam."

"We have proof that they are able to move four to five times as much into South Vietnam when there is no fear of bombing than they could if they were being bombed or were operating under the threat of bombing."

So it seems likely that each side will not wish to give the impression that they have abandoned the fighting. The real test will come when a formula for making peace is submitted, and here it is possible that neutral diplomats will be helpful. Senator Stennis pointedly remarked in his address that, despite America's urgent pleas to its Western allies for manpower assistance, no military help has been given by them to the U. S. forces in Vietnam. He added:

"Diplomatic pressure on their part now is absolutely essential and, unless it is forthcoming soon, they not only will have lost their right to complain and object to the course we might choose to follow in Vietnam, they will have also lost their right to call upon our men and our resources for their defense in Europe and elsewhere."

There can be some deadlocks for brief periods during a prolonged negotiation on the Vietnam war. The involvement of European countries in the discussions behind the scenes seems inevitable, and could be constructive.

Drew Pearson Says LBJ Was About to Resume Full Air Attacks on North Vietnam

WASHINGTON — President Johnson was just about ready to resume full air attacks on North Vietnam when the Communists dramatically broke the impasse over a truce site. He had received an urgent warning from the Joint Chiefs that the Viet Cong were planning another spectacular attack upon Saigon with the American Embassy again a prime target.

Details of the plan had been supplied by a high-ranking defector, known by the code name "Hanoi 8," who had given his information while strapped to a lie detector. His story was also confirmed by captured enemy documents.

The President concluded, therefore, that the North Vietnamese were stalling the truce talks until they could mount their offensive. The purpose would be to strengthen their bargaining position as the negotiations began.

The Viet Cong always withhold the timetable from their battle plans until the last possible minute, so U.S. intelligence officers could only speculate when the attack might be attempted. The defector thought May 1, a red-letter day on the Communist calendar, would be most likely. It was also speculated that the Viet Cong might choose May 19, the 78th birthday of Ho Chi Minh. Significantly, an attack began on the weekend before the Paris talks were scheduled to start.

As May 1 approached, President Johnson began to share the Joint Chiefs' qualms over the bombing curbs. His concern was compounded by intelligence reports that 70,000 North Vietnamese regulars had infiltrated into the South since the bombing pullback. Though Vietiane, Laos, which had become the relay point for preliminary messages, he sent word that he wouldn't hold back his bombers much longer while Hanoi quibbled over a truce site.

"Cute Little King" When Alice Roosevelt Longworth paid her respects to King Olav of Norway recently, she recalled how her father, the late President Theodore Roosevelt, had taken her as a young girl to call on the Norwegian royal family.

"The King was only five years old at that time," Mrs. Longworth said. "He was such a cute little boy."

Mrs. Longworth, now over 80, this time found King Olav to be a very solid, square-shouldered monarch, weighing about 200 pounds. He was royally welcomed first by President Johnson, who hailed him as "non-political man," then by Vice President Humphrey, whose mother was Norwegian, and then by Chief Justice Warren, whose father was born in Norway.

"I shall be happy to have you in Minnesota," said Vice President Humphrey, "provided you do not run for public office."

Lyndon Gets Tough President Johnson had an off-the-record conference with Democratic Congressional leaders before he let loose his tough "bite-the-bullet" attack on the Ways and Means Committee. Having served 30 years on Capitol Hill, LBJ knows that you don't rile Congressmen except as a last resort.

But Johnson also has a very high regard for the Presidency and has studied the battles which Harry Truman staged to preserve the rights of the Executive. Before the Potsdam Conference when Truman was urged to take Senate advisers with him for the talks with Stalin and Churchill, he refused, pointing out that to negotiate foreign policy was the business of the President.

Again after the Korean War got started, Truman was urged to get Senate approval of the war by a special resolution. He refused, pointing out that the United Nations had already OK'd the war.

The present impasses with Rep. Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, is viewed by President Johnson as a means of hamstringing the Executive by refusal to increase taxes and thereby indirectly writing the federal budget.

At the off-the-record White House meeting, however, Johnson went a long way by reluctantly agreeing to a $4 billion cut in the 1969 budget, plus other cuts.

"Yes or No?"—LBJ After unfolding the plan he looked around the room for reaction. There was none.

Finally, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic House Leader, broke the silence. Carl is short, mild-mannered, dedicated to honest government, and has supported the public good even when he knew it would hurt him politically as in open housing.

"I'll buy that," he said quietly.

"I'll go along," agreed Speaker John McCormack of Boston.

"I think the proposition is perfectly fair," said George Mahon on Texas, after some hesitation.

But Chairman Wilbur Mills, who had opposed a tax increase for nine long months, was silent.

"Well, I'll consider it," replied the cautious Arkansas. "That's not what I asked," challenged the President. "Are you for it or aren't you for it? Yes or no?"

"All right, I'll go along," said Mills.

But the next day in the Ways and Means Committee Mills reneged. He said he would pass the 10 per cent surtax only if the administration cut $6 billion from the 1969 budget instead of $4 billion. This is what got the President sore. He knew that the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition was trying to cut education, anti-poverty and welfare. So he issued his "stand up like men and answer the roll call" blast at Congress. It was a deliberately calculated blast and it got results. The Ways and Means Committee voted out a tax increase 17 to 6.

Panamanian Election The American military have got themselves unwittingly enmeshed in the upcoming battle over who will be the next president of Panama.

American military men are supposed to stay out of politics—first, because it's unconstitutional; second, because repeated experiences have shown they are not good politicians. They frequently bet on the wrong horse.

In Panama, where the situation is extremely touchy, the U. S. military have been supporting the Panamanian Guardia Nacional and therefore have incurred the wrath of those political segments which the Guardia has been trying to surpass, among them ex-president Arnulfo Arias. Arias was once considered anti-American but more recently has been friendly toward the United States.

Panama's National Guard gets about one-third of its financial support from the United States through military aid. It cooperates with the United States Army in the training of troops in guerrilla warfare. Some of the most efficient U. S. military preparation for jungle warfare in South Vietnam is staged in the Panamanian jungles where climate and vegetation conditions are about the same as those in Southeast Asia. This training automatically cements the link between the U. S. Army and the Panamanian National Guard. In addition, the United States supplies the Panamanian Guard with rifles and tanks and quite recently Panamanian anti-riot squads appeared in the streets of Panama wearing U. S. Ranger uniforms. This was the first time American uniforms had been worn and since the occasion was a purely local military controversy, the intrusion was resented.

Panama's National Guard is one of the most efficient in Central America. It is also prosperous. It receives extra revenue from its control of bolita, the Panamanian national game. In addition, its critics claim that the guard receives extra revenue from its sale of marijuana to the United States and its control of houses of prostitution. The guard uses flame throwers to burn off marijuana fields, it is alleged, when the owners do not pay tribute to the guard.

Regardless of these accusations, it remains a fact that the guard did intervene firmly and conclusively in the recent impeachment proceedings against President Marco Robles and the move of the Panamanian assembly, replaced him with Max Del Valle, a big sugar planter and director of Coca Cola.

Panama's political future comes up for a vote on May 12, and it will be interesting to see whether the Panama Guard discourages voters going to the polls in the interior parts of the country as its critics predict.

Note: The U. S. military in Panama are under Gen. Robert W. Porter Jr., a good army officer but considered naive when it comes to the intricacies of Latin American politics.

Editor, The Freeman:
When I was a child we used to sing a song in Sunday School which began —
All things bright and beautiful.

All creatures great and small,
All things wise and wonderful,
The Lord God made them all.
It is to those who care for "creatures great and small" this appeal is being made.

In Ulster County there is a small animal shelter in Kingston supported by the love of those who believe that God's creatures are our responsibility. The Ulster County S.P.C.A. is a privately operated shelter which rescues hurt, starving or ill treated animals.

During the winter there were many instances of cruelty such as a cat found near Saugerties, with its four legs tied together, and its kittens tied in a plastic bag. Fortunately a member of the Shelter was in time to rescue them before they died.

Another case was of a Golden Retriever dog, pushed from a car window onto the Thruway, and it fell down the embankment. It was more than an hour before the rescue workers could find the poor injured animal and it was so badly hurt it had to be put to sleep.

Such horrors make us feel that it is almost unbelievable that humans can be so heartless.

Out of 100,000 resident of Ulster County only about 600 people support this Shelter. It is only $2.00 a year to belong to it. The cost of operating it is over $22,000 last year, and if you feel you would like to help, during this "Be kind to Animal week" please send a contribution to the Ulster County S.P.C.A., Brabant Road, Kingston, N. Y. 12401, or P.O. Box 124, Kingston. They would be so grateful to you.

Editor, The Freeman:
I would appreciate very much your paper carrying the following comment.

Recent approval by the Ulster County Board of Legislators to resolutions proposed by the Youth Guidance Committee and Salary Study Committee of the County Board of Legislators have assisted the Director of Probation in his recruitment of new staff for the Ulster County Probation Department.

The Youth Guidance Committee and Salary Study Committee, after several joint meetings, proposed resolutions that were adopted unanimously by the Board of Legislators on April 18, 1968. At the time of the adoption of this resolution there were four vacancies within the seven Probation Officer positions approved for Ulster County. The effect of the diligent work done by the two committees mentioned, is clearly shown by the fact that three of these vacancies have been filled by the 17th of May and the fourth vacancy is expected to be filled shortly thereafter.

In appreciation for their efforts, I would like to thank Joseph Martorana, chairman of the Salary Study Committee, as well as all the members of both committees for their participation and support of my efforts to have an efficient probation staff.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES E. SCHULTZ

Henry J. Taylor Says

Aid to Enemy Is Sheer Idiocy

Blunt exposure to public view and a full-scale Congressional investigation seem the only way to stop our hidden aid to the enemy behind the scenes in the Vietnam war.

The facade that shields this incredible folly while our Americans die at the front is "East-West trade"—an enemy-pleasing idiocy that someone sold President Johnson and which he innocently calls "bridge-building."

The facts have been spelled out many times in this column, but forces behind the scenes are still achieving this idiocy, or treachery, or whatever you want to call it.

For example, the Soviet zone of Germany is one of Moscow's principal suppliers of war equipment to Vietnam. The shipyards at Rostock is a prime source for the Soviet merchant marine carrying armaments to Haiphong. Yet Washington authorized the shipment of a Control Data 1604 computer to the Rostock yard for use in the design and construction of these East German vessels whose cargoes are killing our men.

Other export items Washington approved in the third quarter of 1967 are bullet-proof windshields for airplanes, bullet-resistant tires, jet fuel, aircraft engines, ammunition loading machines and a full array of parachute parts.

This is called trade?

Sens. Harry F. Byrd (D., Va.) and Birch Bayh (D., Ind.), blessings be, are protesting what is happening, along with others. The problem stinks to high heaven with strange dealings, but no one department is responsible and the decisions can become manipulated at the government's deep innards.

Enemy North Vietnam's chief exports are tea, coffee, spices, cement, coal, bristles, pig iron and raw tin. This variety is exchanged with Europe's Red satellite bloc. These countries are sending war goods, rolling stock and all kinds of complete plants to make metal products, textiles, electricity.

Poland is supplying Hanoi most of the processed leather and heavy cloth. Bulgaria is supplying most of the industrial alcohol, which is converted from Bulgarian wheat. Yugoslavia is supplying the bauxite for the war-needed aluminum. Hungary is supplying pharmaceuticals, range-finders, other complex optical goods and war needs from Hungary's highly perfected instrument industries. Czechoslovakia's immense Skoda armament works is supplying shiploads of tanks, trucks, mobile artillery, anti-aircraft guns, electronic mines, rockets, bazookas and weapons of every kind to the Red side in Vietnam.

The Communist government in Prague claims it got back only 6.1 tons of gold taken out by the Germans during World War II. The Red leadership says it should have received 25.5 tons from the gold's U. S. guardians, held back by the United States because of American property seized during the Communist nationalization of U. S. industrial and other property in Czechoslovakia.

The Communists offer a mere $2 million in settlement for this after haggling for 20 years. Tying in a propaganda pitch, as usual, Prague officially stated on May 2: "It would be useful if the American press informed the American people about the shameful case of the withheld gold which spoils relations between Czechoslovakia and the United States."

What gall! Yet this idiocy, too, is taking hold behind the scenes in Washington. Unless an outraged public discovers the truth Washington is (quietly) more likely than not to give back to the Red government the gold.

What President Johnson has been mistakenly persuaded to call "bridge building" only lets the enemy laugh louder and louder at the United States.

"The King was only five years old at that time," Mrs. Longworth said. "He was such a cute little boy."

Mrs. Longworth, now over 80, this time found King Olav to be a very solid, square-shouldered monarch, weighing about 200 pounds. He was royally welcomed first by President Johnson, who hailed him as "non-political man," then by Vice President Humphrey, whose mother was Norwegian, and then by Chief Justice Warren, whose father was born in Norway.

"I shall be happy to have you in Minnesota," said Vice President Humphrey, "provided you do not run for public office."

Lyndon Gets Tough

President Johnson had an off-the-record conference with Democratic Congressional leaders before he let loose his tough "bite-the-bullet" attack on the Ways and Means Committee.

Having served 30 years on Capitol Hill, LBJ knows that you don't rile Congressmen except as a last resort.

But Johnson also has a very high regard for the Presidency and has studied the battles which Harry Truman staged to preserve the rights of the Executive. Before the Potsdam Conference when Truman was urged to take Senate advisers with him for the talks with Stalin and Churchill, he refused, pointing out that to negotiate foreign policy was the business of the President.

Again after the Korean War got started, Truman was urged to get Senate approval of the war by a special resolution. He refused, pointing out that the United Nations had already OK'd the war.

The present impasse with Rep. Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, is viewed by President Johnson as a means of hamstringing the Executive by refusal to increase taxes and thereby indirectly writing the federal budget.

At the off-the-record White House meeting, however, Johnson went a long way by reluctantly agreeing to a $4 billion cut in the 1969 budget, plus other cuts.

"Yes or No?"—LBJ

After unfolding the plan he looked around the room for reaction. There was none. Finally, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic House Leader, broke the silence. Carl is short, mild-mannered, dedicated to honest government, and has supported the public good even when he knew it would hurt him politically as in open housing.

"I'll buy that," he said quietly.

"I'll go along," agreed Speaker John McCormack of Boston.

"I think the proposition is perfectly fair," said George Mahon of Texas, after some hesitation.

But Chairman Wilbur Mills, who had opposed a tax increase for nine long months, was silent.

who had opposed a tax increase for nine long months, was silent.

"Well, I'll consider it," replied the cautious Arkansas.

"That's not what I asked," challenged the President.

"Are you for it or aren't you for it? Yes or no?"

"All right, I'll go along," said Mills.

But the next day in the Ways and Means Committee Mills reneged. He said he would pass the 10 per cent surtax only if the administration cut $6 billion from the 1969 budget instead of $4 billion. This is what got the President sore. He knew that the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition was trying to cut education, antipoverty and welfare. So he issued his "stand up like men and answer the roll call" blast at Congress. It was a deliberately calculated blast and it got results. The Ways and Means Committee voted out a tax increase 17 to 6.

Panamanian Election

The American military have got themselves unwittingly enmeshed in the upcoming battle over who will be the next president of Panama.

American military men are supposed to stay out of politics—first, because it's unconstitutional; second, because repeated experiences have shown they are not good politicians. They frequently bet on the wrong horse.

In Panama, where the situation is extremely touchy, the U. S. military have been supporting the Panamanian Guardia Nacional and therefore have incurred the wrath of those political segments which the Guardia has been trying to suppress, among them ex-president Arnulfo Arias. Arias was once considered anti-American but more recently has been friendly toward the United States.

Panama's National Guard gets about one-third of its financial support from the United States through military aid. It cooperates with the United States Army in the training of troops in guerrilla warfare. Some of the most efficient U. S. military preparation for jungle warfare in South Vietnam is staged in the Panamanian jungles where climate and vegetation conditions are about the same as those in Southeast Asia. This training automatically cements the link between the U. S. Army and the Panamanian National Guard. In addition, the United States supplies the Panamanian Guard with rifles and tanks and quite recently Panamanian anti-riot squads appeared in the streets of Panama wearing U. S. Ranger uniforms. This was the first time American uniforms had been worn and, since the occasion was a purely local military controversy, the intrusion was resented.

Panama's National Guard is one of the most efficient in Central America. It is also prosperous. It receives extra revenue from its control of bolita, the Panamanian national game. In addition, its critics claim that the guard receives extra revenue from its sale of marijuana to the United States and its control of houses of prostitution. The guard uses flame-throwers to burn off marijuana fields, it is alleged, when the owners do not pay tribute to the guard.

Regardless of these accusations, it remains a fact that the guard did intervene firmly and conclusively in the recent impeachment proceedings against President Marco Robles and the move of the Panamanian assembly, replaced him with Max Del Valle, a big sugar planter and director of Coca Cola.

Panama's political future comes up for a vote on May 12, and it will be interesting to see whether the Panama Guard discourages voters going to the polls in the interior parts of the country as its critics predict.

Note: The U. S. military in Panama are under Gen. Robert W. Porter Jr., a good army officer but considered naive when it comes to the intricacies of Latin American politics.

Be Kind to Animals Week

May 3, 1968

Editor, The Freeman:

When I was a child we used to sing a song in Sunday School which began —: All things bright and beautiful.

All creatures great and small, All things wise and wonderful, The Lord God made them all.

It is to those who care for "creatures great and small" this appeal is being made.

In Ulster County there is a small animal shelter in Kingston supported by the love of those who believe that God's creatures are our responsibility. The Ulster County S.P.C.A. is a private, operated Shelter which rescues hurt, starving or ill treated animals.

During the winter there were many instances of cruelty such as a cat found near Saugerties, with its four legs tied together, and its kittens tied in a plastic bag. Fortunately a member of the Shelter was in time to rescue them before they died.

Another case was of a Golden Retriever dog, pushed from a car window onto the Thruway, and the car behind it hit it and it fell down the embankment. It was more than an hour before the rescue workers could find the poor injured animal and it was so badly hurt it had to be put to sleep.

Such horrors make us feel that it is almost unbelievable that humans can be so heartless.

Out of 100,000 resident of Ulster County only about 600 people support this Shelter. It is only $2.00 a year to belong to it. The cost of operating it is over $22,000 last year, and if you feel you would like to help, during this "Be kind to Animal week" please send a contribution to the Ulster County S.P.C.A., Brabant Road, Kingston, N. Y. 12401, or P.O. Box 124, Kingston. They would be so grateful to you.

Editor, The Freeman

I would appreciate very much your paper carrying the following comment.

Recent approval by the Ulster County Board of Legislators to resolutions proposed by the Youth Guidance Committee and Salary Study Committee of the County Board of Legislators have assisted the Director of Probation in his recruitment of new staff for the Ulster County Probation Department.

The Youth Guidance Committee and Salary Study Committee, after several joint meetings, proposed resolutions that were adopted unanimously by the Board of Legislators on April 18, 1968. At the time of the adoption of this resolution there were four vacancies within the seven Probation Officer positions approved for Ulster County. The affect of the diligent work done by the two committees mentioned, is clearly shown by the fact that three of these vacancies will have been filled by the 17th of May and the fourth vacancy is expected to be filled shortly thereafter.

In appreciation for their efforts, I would like to thank Joseph Martorana, chairman of the Salary Study Committee, as well as all the members of both committees for their participation and support of my efforts to have an efficient probation staff.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES E. SCHULTZ
DIRECTOR OF PROBATION

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

May 9, 1948—The Kingston Daily Leader ran its last issue after 67 years of publication.

A threatened New York Central Railroad strike was reported either postponed or canceled.

Mrs. Lillian Whipple, a waitress, suffered head and ankle injuries, and two others were hurt less seriously in an explosion of unknown origin which damaged the Central Bus Terminal Restaurant on Railroad Avenue.

May 9, 1958—The proposed division of 25 outlying school districts into five elementary school areas was approved Thursday night by the Kingston Board of Education.

Among the decisions made by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors at Thursday night's session which lasted well past midnight, were: rejection of two-way radio bids and authorization to re-advertise, and acceptance of the resignation of Ulster County Commissioner of Public Welfare Edward E. Murray.

Asia Peace Hinges On Our China Policy

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst
NEW YORK (NEA)—Vice President Humphrey introduced a realistic note into the current debate on American foreign policy with his suggestion that now is the time to build "peaceful bridges" to Red China.

He was looking beyond the Vietnamese conflict when he said that the United States could usefully pursue toward the Chinese the same policy of increased contact that has been followed in Russia and Communist East Europe.

It takes courage for a presidential aspirant to suggest a rapprochement with Peking at this time. But, as Bismarck once said, the most important diplomatic element in strategy—military or political—is clarity about one's intentions.

No matter how abhorrent Mao Tse-tung's ideology and policies may be, the existence of Red China is a fact of life that can no longer be ignored by the United States.

Indeed, there can be no peace in all of Southeast Asia as long as China's mainland with a population of some 700 million remains isolated and a nuclear outlaw.

As Humphrey warned, "national isolation breeds national neurosis."

It is increasingly clear that the Russians, plagued by troubles in their own country and in the satellites of East Europe, would like to liberate themselves from the costly North Vietnamese albatross. Moreover, the Kremlin rulers have always been convinced that the Communists stand to gain more at the negotiating table than on the battlefield.

But it is fear of Red China that is the reason for the tortuous twists and turns in Hanoi's peace negotiations. As long as Mao sulks in his isolation, intent on making trouble, Ho Chi Minh is in no position to engage in meaningful negotiations.

There is still another compelling reason why Humphrey's suggestion should be taken seriously.

The Russians have their hands tied in Europe, the Middle East and Latin America as long as they confront Red China across a border of 4,000 miles. It is thus in their interest to tighten the ring of isolation around Mao.

Soviet troops and officers from Uzbekistan and Outer Mongolia are reported to be leading anti-Mao insurgents in Sinkiang, Manchuria and other parts of China in an effort to topple the Peking regime.

The Kremlin leaders, to justify and legalize their unannounced act of aggression in China, are even claiming that the very existence of communism was put in jeopardy by the "Peking clique."

This, Moscow warned, should be the concern of the entire Communist movement. The Soviet leaders are facing an uphill struggle in their efforts to excommunicate Mao from the world Communist movement.

Only 51 Red parties showed up at the recent conference at Budapest, Hungary, to prepare an anti-Chinese Communist conclave that is to meet in Moscow in November.

Last March a similar Russian-sponsored conference was attended by representatives of 67 parties. Even then six Communist-dominated countries—including North Vietnam, North Korea, Yugoslavia and Cuba—ignored the conference. A seventh country, Romania, walked out of the meeting, complaining of Russia's attempts to dominate it. Now Romania has been joined by Czechoslovakia.

Nevertheless, the destruction of Mao's regime and Russia's control of Red China remains the chief target of Kremlin foreign policy.

And what is bad for Moscow is good for the United States and the free world.

This does not mean that in order to build peaceful bridges to China's mainland the United States can or should desert Chiang Kai-shek's nationalistic government in Taiwan.

But it does mean that the time is ripe for a new look at China's mainland and for fresh ideas of the type suggested by Humphrey.

Students Plunge Into Politics May Have Beneficial Effect

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

The enthusiastic political plunge taken by growing numbers of college students may have a beneficial side effect — a decline in the use of LSD and other drugs on campus, says a Cornell University medical professor.

Dr. Donald B. Louria, says this is a "Charming fallout" of the eruption of campus political activity touched off by the presidential bids of Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy.

"If you want to cure the drug problem," says Louria, who heads the New York

State Council on Drug Addiction, "the name of the game is commitment."

In more scientific terms, Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health, is saying much the same thing when he urges researchers into drug addiction to look beyond the specific problems of LSD, marijuana, amphetamines and barbiturates to the underlying causes of drug abuse.

"We live in a drug-oriented culture," Yolles told Congress recently. "From aspirin to sleeping pills, from tranquilizers to 'the pill,' Americans of all ages are ingesting drugs in greater number and variety than ever before."

As a starting point for research into drug abuse, Yolles suggests looking into the causes of alienation — that withdrawal from the world that has been characterized as "a refusal of what is, without a vision of what should be."

As a disease of the young, alienation has probably existed since the first gap opened between the generations, but Yolles believes it is now "wider, deeper and more diffuse than at any previous time in our history."

"It affects the rich and the poor," he says, "the college student and the school dropout, the urban and rural youngster." Their common complaint: "Life is a drag."

Since they can't change the world, they are to change their state of consciousness. Rejecting the beliefs, values and leaders of the "square" world, they create their own dream world through drugs.

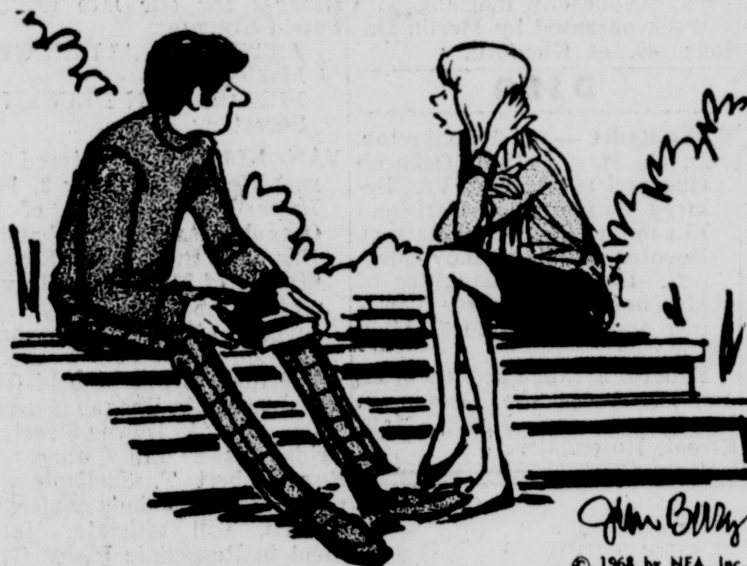

Yolles says there are estimates that two million college and high school youngsters have tried marijuana and that its use is increasing.

He believes it is urgent that new approaches be found to bridge the generation gap to wipe out the young, to restore a belief in the world as it is.

"If this is not done," he says, "there are serious dangers that large proportions of current and future generations reach adulthood embittered toward the larger society, unequipped to take on parental, vocational and other citizen roles, and involved in some form of social deviant behavior."

To be "neat and clean for Gene," as one of slogans of the youthful McCarthy campaigners has it, is to make a start in the right direction.

Contract Cancellation

Discrimination War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials are threatening to use a never-before-used economic weapon—contract cancellation—to combat job discrimination in companies that do $75 billion worth of business a year with the government.

President Johnson empowered federal agencies nearly three years ago to terminate contracts if recipient firms failed to hire, promote and pay employees without regard to race.

Officials admit that some companies have disregarded nondiscrimination pledges, but concede no contracts have been canceled.

In the future, however, "some contracts are going to be lost unless an awful lot of people suddenly reverse their field," claimed Ward McCready, assistant director of the Labor Department's contract compliance office.

Informal Hearings

McCready said executives of a half-dozen of the nation's largest corporations will be called to informal hearings in New York this month as part of the government effort to increase Negro and Puerto Rican representation in Manhattan's 2.4 million white-collar labor force.

However, he refused to name the firms or provide any details on the hearings.

In Philadelphia, the government's insistence that more minority workers be hired for federal construction projects has stalled nearly $20 million in work. And the contractor on the $30 million U.S. Mint in Philadelphia was told his contract "could be suspended or terminated" unless he acted to integrate his work force. Neither contract has been terminated, however.

Johnson's September 1965 executive order applies to all government contracts over $10,000—or all but $5 billion of $80 billion the government pays each year in contracts for goods and services. The order not only bans discrimination in hiring, but requires "affirmative action" programs to ensure upgrading of minority workers.

Companies covered by it employ 25 million persons—one-third of the nation's work force. McCready calculates that these firms have 3 million job openings a year that could be filled from minority groups.

The fact that businesses that disregard nondiscrimination pledges have escaped contract cancellation was assailed by Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., as "an inexcusable story of bureaucratic betrayal."

Newburgh Has Third Night of Racial Woes

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI)—Police today listed five minor fires, several windows broken and some looting in the aftermath of the third straight night of racial disorder in this Hudson Valley city.

Police Chief John Tierney said Wednesday's incidents were "not as bad as" those of the night before.

Seven persons were arrested; three for harassment, two for unlawful assembly, one for disorderly conduct and one for speeding, the chief said. He also said an "unspecified number of juveniles were petitioned to Family Court on delinquency charges growing out of unlawful assembly."

Tierney said there were five fires during the night and 20 false alarms. He said all the fires were minor, including one in debris outside a Sears Roebuck & Co. warehouse.

Kingston police in a two-day radar check on motorists in the city resulted in 24 summonses being issued charging the drivers of cars with speeding. It is understood that the assignment of patrolmen to the radar will continue in an effort to slow down moving vehicles and keep them within the legal speed limit before the summer rush of travel begins.

Vol Injured, Steps on Nail At Local Fire

A Kingston volunteer fireman was injured Wednesday while assisting at a fire in the first floor apartment of a two-story frame dwelling at 254 Hasbrouck Avenue. City firemen also extinguished two incendiary fires.

James Sheely, of Rapid Hose Co., was treated at Benedictine Hospital for an injury of the right foot, sustained when he stepped on a nail at the Hasbrouck Avenue blaze. Alarm headquarters at Central Station received a telephone call at 9:02, yesterday, reporting the fire, and a bell alarm was sounded from Hasbrouck and Delaware Avenues a couple of minutes later.

Firemen responded in command of Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Hugh Greer, and on arrival they learned the fire was confined to a table and chairs in the apartment occupied by Frank Jordano. The second floor, occupied by the Spada family, sustained smoke damage it was reported. Fire officials listed the owners of the property as Helen Spada and Teresa Cafaro, an employee of Colonial Roofing Co., who was working in the neighborhood, assisted Jordano remove the burning table. Firemen said the blaze apparently started in a wooden basket containing paper under the table. Pressurized water was used to extinguish the flames. Considerable smoke damage was reported.

At 5:42 p. m. yesterday, Engine 2 in charge of Deputy Chief Harry Sills was dispatched to 236 South Wall Street, where fire was reported near the railroad tracks. Pressurized water and Indian tanks were used to quell the blaze which fire officials termed as incendiary.

At 12:23 a. m. a call was received from the office of Doctors Ambulance Service on Greenkill Avenue reporting fire in the vicinity of the old West Shore Hotel on Railroad Avenue. Engines 1 and 2 and Trucks 1 and 2 in charge of Deputy Chief Sills responded. On arrival firemen found a brisk fire burning in a large accumulation of trash outside the rear of the old Eichler Hotel. A booster line and pressurized water from Engine 1 was used to extinguish the flames. Firemen checked the interior of the building but found no fire. The blaze also was listed by fire officials as incendiary.

Because of the nature of the blaze, BCI agents of the Kingston state police are investigating the cause of the blaze.

The opening will take place between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m. Friday at 781 Broadway, opposite the Kingston traffic circle.

Savago, chairman of the county legislature, is seeking the GOP nomination for the state assembly seat now held by Kenneth L. Wilson who is retiring from politics.

The convention results were challenged by H. Clark Bell of Woodstock, however, and the two men will face one another in the June 18 primary.

Bell has the endorsement of the Ulster County Conservative party and Savago supporters have called their candidate the "only Republican running in the primary."

Refreshments will be served at the legislative chairman's headquarters opening.

BCI Probing Ulster Blaze

Ulster Hose Fire Company, after receiving a 10 p. m. call from Ulster County Mutual Aid last night, responded to an East Kingston house blaze under the Kingston-Rhincliff Bridge.

Arriving at the scene with a pumper and a tank truck, the Ulster firefighters coordinated their efforts with East Kingston firemen in battling flames consuming an abandoned two-story brick and wood building.

Major concern for the firemen was with the surrounding woods.

The East Kingston firemen were, at the same time, fighting a waterfront fire at the Brigham brickyard.

During the dual firefighting operation, a third alarm was placed at the East Kingston company regarding a grass fire. The two fire companies concentrated their efforts on the surrounding wooded area. The roof of the old building fell in and the front of the structure soon collapsed.

Because of the nature of the blaze, BCI agents of the Kingston state police are investigating the cause of the blaze.

Report States Arnheiter Used Command for Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—no reason for further inquiry in a study by the staff of the House Armed Services Committee concluded that Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter used his command of a destroyer in the Vietnam war zone "for his own personal gain," it was disclosed today.

The staff report—never officially published—said the Navy had "adequate grounds" for questioning his ability to command the ship.

Arnheiter was removed as skipper of the radar picket ship USS Vance in March, 1966, after three months in command. He has been seeking to clear his name ever since, contending he was the victim of unfounded complaints by a rebellious crew, and that his case threatens the very structure of naval command.

Hearing Continues

Details of the committee study came to light as Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., continued for a third day his one-man "informal" public hearing on the Arnheiter affair.

Resnick pursued his hearing after chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the armed services committee, on the basis of the staff study, informed the Navy that the committee saw to the case.

The staff report—signed by committee counsel George Norris and based largely on a review of Navy documents plus tapes of Navy hearings—said Arnheiter "violated many orders and regulations."

The report listed these examples: While assigned to patrol more than 10 miles offshore he "continuously brought his ship in close to shore looking for gunfire support missions" (shore bombardment) and failed to report he was leaving his assigned area.

He asked another American destroyer, the Bache, for a shore bombardment mission. "Although none was given, Vance started firing at the shore. Officers of both the Bache and the Vance reported that the only signs of life in the area were sparks flying from bullets ricocheting on the rocks in the area."

The Vance "on its own" fired on a religious shrine on the South Vietnamese coast, although it was in an area "where the United States did not want to have any firing as we wanted to win over the local people."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices today opened slightly higher in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers felt a brightening economic picture could provide further demand for stocks on the near term. Approval of a tax boost and $6 billion in spending cuts by House-Senate conferees was considered a bullish factor by observers. A drop in the unemployment rate also could encourage some buying.

Speculative Swings Can Be Mistaken for Growth

Q — We have been in and out of different issues for seven years with no gains to show for a supposed bull era. We wanted a strong growth with a little speculation. Our portfolio is definitely out of balance. What changes can you suggest without too much loss?—L.R.

A — Except for Radio Corp. you seem to be left with a miscellany of speculative issues, out of which I would recommend holding only three. Electronic Associates may possibly be taken over by Control Data through an exchange of common shares. If this eventuates, you would then be holding a strong—though volatile—computer issue moving up on higher earnings. This, I believe, should satisfy your desire for speculative potential.

Associated Products also reports higher earnings for third quarter ending February 29. Share net practically tripled year to year on sales that were up 35 per cent. Hold this for now.

Finally, you might hold Riegel Textile for a while longer at least, though, for fiscal 1968 ending September 30, earnings are expected to drop below the record level of $3.02 reported for 1967. Improvement is looked for later, however, and could be worth waiting for. For replacements I advise selecting growth stocks from my column recommendations.

Q — Commissions I receive as a real estate broker go into the bank since my husband's income is sufficient for our family needs. We'd like to invest these commissions for our children's education, but have been told we should have a few thousand dollars to start with instead of our few hundred. What do you say?—D.H.

A — I say you can start with $500-$600 and buy some shares of Transamerica to hold for a long-term investment. When you have saved up another similar amount, either add to these shares or buy another growth stock—possibly Baxter Laboratories. Some New York Exchange member firms offer a monthly investment plan which might interest you.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Report States Arnheiter Used Command for Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—no reason for further inquiry in a study by the staff of the House Armed Services Committee concluded that Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter used his command of a destroyer in the Vietnam war zone "for his own personal gain," it was disclosed today.

The staff report — never officially published — said the Navy had "adequate grounds" for questioning his ability to command the ship.

Arnheiter was removed as skipper of the radar picket ship USS Vance in March, 1966, after three months in command. He has been seeking to clear his name ever since, contending he was the victim of unfounded complaints by a rebellious crew and that his case threatens the very structure of naval command.

Hearing Continues

Details of the committee study came to light as Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., continued for a third day his one-man "informal" public hearing on the Arnheiter affair.

Resnick pursued his hearing after chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the armed services committee, on the basis of the staff study, informed the Navy that the committee saw the case.

The staff report — signed by committee counsel George Norris and based largely on a review of Navy documents plus tapes of Navy hearings — said Arnheiter "violated many orders and regulations."

The report listed these examples:

—While assigned to patrol more than 10 miles offshore he "continuously brought his ship in close to shore looking for gunfire support missions" (shore bombardment) and failed to report he was leaving his assigned area.

—He asked another American destroyer, the Bache, for a shore bombardment mission. "Although none was given, Vance started firing at the shore. Officers of both the Bache and the Vance reported that the only signs of life in the area were sparks flying from bullets ricocheting on the rocks in the area."

—The Vance "on its own" fired on a religious shrine on the South Vietnamese coast, although it was in an area "where the United States did not want to have any firing as we wanted to win over the local people."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices today opened slightly higher in active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers felt a brightening economic picture could provide further demand for stocks on the near term. Approval of a tax boost and $6 billion in spending cuts by House-Senate conferees was considered a bullish factor by observers. A drop in the unemployment rate also could encourage some buying.

Sees Computer As Invasion Of Privacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A computer-era privacy battle looms in the Supreme Court over New York state's sale of auto registration data to the highest commercial bidder.

Author Corliss Lamont, a wealthy New Yorker, wants the practice stopped and the state law that authorizes it declared an unconstitutional invasion of privacy.

Computers have become so efficient and so sophisticated, he said recently in an appeal, "a terrifying array of personal information" becomes available at the push of a button.

If sale of auto registration data is permitted, he said, other public records could readily find their way to private hands.

New Yorkers, like car owners everywhere, have to supply the state with certain information when registering a vehicle: name, address, date of birth, sex and the like.

The state then reproduces the registration applications on 35 mm microfilm rolls and sells them, with lists of car owners, to the highest "responsible" bidder.

The information, Lamont said, is then used for unsolicited mail and telephone pitches, especially in the auto trade.

New York sold the list for $36,000 this year to R. L. Polk & Co., a Delaware corporation.

Federal Judge Marvin E. Frankel of New York City dismissed Lamont's suit last June. He said the information sold is not vital or intimate.

Polk, the company that seems to deal with most of the states, says it does not buy lists from these states: Alaska, Illinois, Kentucky, South Dakota, Washington and the District of Columbia.

The U.S. Circuit Court in New York City affirmed Frankel's ruling last December.

Last Tuesday, New York Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, responding in a brief to Lamont's appeal, told the Supreme Court "it cannot be plausibly contended that the information required of the motor vehicle registrant touches the individual's private life or habits."

At the very least, Lamont is asking that a three-judge federal court be impaneled to pass on the constitutional questions.

Liddy Calls Pueblo Case A Disgrace

GOP congressional candidate Gordon Liddy is asking Americans to write their legislators and demand action in U.S. efforts to return the Pueblo and her 82-man crew.

"It is a national disgrace that these men have not been returned home," Liddy told newsmen yesterday.

Many months have passed since the Pueblo was illegally captured and although minor state department officials say all is okay, the fact remains that the crew and the vessel are still in North Korean hands.

"To the contrary things are not okay," he said, "indications are that there is a very likely possibility that North Korea will place at least several member of the Pueblo's crew on trial, if not all crew members."

Also, claims Liddy, "Evidence strongly suggests that many crewmen have already been brainwashed."

Liddy revealed that he had received a reply from the U.S. Department of State, responding to his inquiry of last month demanding Secretary of Defense Dean Rusk increase American efforts for the return of the Pueblo and her crew.

The Poughkeepsie lawyer also stated that officials assured him that America was doing all possible to see that the ship and crew are safely returned.

Holdup Charge Case Put Over

The case of Ronald R. LaFlore, 30, of this city, charged in connection with the holdup of the Grand Union Super Market, Albany Avenue on Feb. 17, was adjourned in county court Wednesday to May 29 at 11 a. m.

Judge Raymond J. Mino assigned Joseph Traficanti Jr., as counsel for the defendant and Traficanti asked for time to read the indictment and prepare motions.

The defendant was charged in the indictment handed down by the April grand jury with robbery and grand larceny, second degree. Kingston detectives charged LaFlore and an accomplice with the robbery and said he was arrested at the scene with $8,000 in cash from the market. Police said the defendant wielded a shotgun and used the store manager Elting Clearwater as a hostage. The accomplice is still being sought by authorities.

Happy Taxpayer

PHOENIX (AP) — State income tax officials have found a happy taxpayer.

Tax chief Robert Merrill reported a Phoenix man sent in a $10 check with a notation: "Although I owe no state tax, I feel obligated to help pay the cost of operating the state government."

A check of the man's tax return revealed that he actually owed $5 in tax. Merrill said the man won't be asked for a corrected tax form.

Sees Computer As Invasion Of Privacy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A computer-era privacy battle looms in the Supreme Court over New York state's sale of auto registration data to the highest commercial bidder.

Author Corliss Lamont, a wealthy New Yorker, wants the practice stopped and the state law that authorizes it declared an unconstitutional invasion of privacy.

Computers have become so efficient and so sophisticated, he said recently in an appeal, "a terrifying array of personal information" becomes available at the push of a button.

If sale of auto registration data is permitted, he said, other public records could readily find their way to private hands.

New Yorkers, like car owners everywhere, have to supply the state with certain information when registering a vehicle: name, address, date of birth, sex and the like.

The state then reproduces the registration applications on 35 mm microfilm rolls and sells them, with lists of car owners, to the highest "responsible" bidder.

The information, Lamont said, is then used for unsolicited mail and telephone pitches, especially in the auto trade.

New York sold the list for $36,000 this year to R. L. Polk & Co., a Delaware corporation.

Federal Judge Marvin E. Frankel of New York City dismissed Lamont's suit last June. He said the information sold is not vital or intimate.

Polk, the company that seems to deal with most of the states, says it does not buy lists from these states: Alaska, Illinois, Kentucky, South Dakota, Washington and the District of Columbia.

The U.S. Circuit Court in New York City affirmed Frankel's ruling last December.

Last Tuesday, New York Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, responding in a brief to Lamont's appeal, told the Supreme Court "it cannot be plausibly contended that the information required of the motor vehicle registrant touches the individual's private life or habits."

At the very least, Lamont is asking that a three-judge federal court be impaneled to pass on the constitutional questions.

Liddy Calls Pueblo Case A Disgrace

GOP congressional candidate Gordon Liddy is asking Americans to write their legislators and demand action in U.S. efforts to return the Pueblo and her 82-man crew.

"It is a national disgrace that these men have not been returned home," Liddy told newsmen yesterday.

Many months have passed since the Pueblo was illegally captured and although minor state department officials say all is okay, the fact remains that the crew and the vessel are still in North Korean hands.

"To the contrary things are not okay," he said, "indications are that there is a very likely possibility that North Korea will place at least several member of the Pueblo's crew on trial, if not all crew members."

Also, claims Liddy, "Evidence strongly suggests that many crewmen have already been brainwashed."

Liddy revealed that he had received a reply from the U.S. Department of State, responding to his inquiry of last month demanding Secretary of Defense Dean Rusk increase American efforts for the return of the Pueblo and her crew.

The Poughkeepsie lawyer also stated that officials assured him that America was doing all possible to see that the ship and crew are safely returned.

Holdup Charge Case Put Over

The case of Ronald R. LaFlore, 30, of this city, charged in connection with the holdup of the Grand Union Super Market, Albany Avenue on Feb. 17, was adjourned in county court Wednesday to May 29 at 11 a. m.

Judge Raymond J. Mino assigned Joseph Traficanti Jr., as counsel for the defendant and Traficanti asked for time to read the indictment and prepare motions.

The defendant was charged in the indictment handed down by the April grand jury with robbery and grand larceny, second degree. Kingston detectives charged LaFlore and an accomplice with the robbery and said he was arrested at the scene with $8,000 in cash from the market. Police said the defendant wielded a shotgun and used the store manager Elting Clearwater as a hostage. The accomplice is still being sought by authorities.

Happy Taxpayer

PHOENIX (AP) — State income tax officials have found a happy taxpayer.

Tax chief Robert Merrill reported a Phoenix man sent in a $10 check with a notation: "Although I owe no state tax, I feel obligated to help pay the cost of operating the state government."

A check of the man's tax return revealed that he actually owed $5 in tax. Merrill said the man won't be asked for a corrected tax form.

According to Aldrich

Danger in Decentralization

Alexander Aldrich, executive director of the Hudson River Valley Commission, told a conference on decentralization, held last weekend at New York University's Graduate School of Public Administration, that "there is a real danger in too much decentralization, too much fragmentation."

"That danger is that nothing gets done, or that things get done too slowly. The people in a locality increasingly may feel that they must turn to larger units, such as the state or, more usually, to the federal government."

Aldrich, whose agency is charged with planning and project review in the Hudson region, said that the need for greater responsiveness on the state level is one reason that, despite a multiplicity of existing local and state governmental bodies, the regional commission unit of government has become popular in recent years.

Some people might find such commissions contrary to what seems to be a growing trend toward decentralization, but the state official, who was the conference's keynote speaker, suggested that such a supposed trend might not be too important.

Code Changed

HONOLULU (AP) — Minor traffic violators in Honolulu no longer face the possibility of a jail sentence.

The Honolulu City Council recently approved an amendment to the city traffic code which reduced the maximum fine from $1,000 to $200.

City Councilman Ben F. Kaito said major traffic offenders still will face a possible jail sentence under state law.

"The emphasis should be on the people involved, on trained, attuned leadership."

Not just anyone who feels like a leader can assume that mantle, however, he added. "Whether a person actually becomes a leader or not is due to his training and his opportunities for development — to his involvement and his luck, for want of a better word."

"Life-and-death situations, instances affecting the futures of our children, opportunities involving the expenditures of considerable sums of vital monies, these are not the areas for the untrained, would-be leader to take control."

"That, I am afraid, is what has happened too often in unplanned, illogical, intemperate attempts at decentralization's sake."

The Hudson River Valley Commission tries to avoid such pat approaches, Aldrich said. "If one word could serve to reflect the myriad of activities and duties that now make up the commission, that word might well be 'service.'

"Because the commission's jurisdiction is so spread out," he added, "it is involved with 15 counties, 15 cities, 67 towns and 39 incorporated villages, not to mention the single-purpose agencies and other state-wide agencies, authorities and commission that move in, through or past its own sphere of operations."

The Hudson River Valley Commission does not attempt to centralize or replace local governmental units, he said. "What it does do is reinforce local efforts at planning when such planning exists."

"It also provides professional help, on specific projects within its jurisdiction, to local governments that either are not able to mount their own efforts or that request the commission to study a problem so as to get an outside, impartial view on something that has aroused local antagonisms or frustrated local planners."

"I believe that the form governmental, educational or other efforts take on doesn't matter that much, as long as it gets the job done."

There should be less emphasis on the surface apparatus of the government, the school, the hospital or whatever, Aldrich said.

"The emphasis should be on the people involved, on trained, attuned leadership."

Not just anyone who feels like a leader can assume that mantle, however, he added. "Whether a person actually becomes a leader or not is due to his training and his opportunities for development — to his involvement and his luck, for want of a better word."

The Maneuvering in Spain

By LOREN JENKINS

MADRID (UPI)—After nearly 30 years of domination by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spain has re-emerged as a nation where expectations of change are no longer absurd.

Where once there was only Franco and his authoritarian regime, now there is very evident movement among many of his supporters and opponents to maneuver into a position to dominate the country once the 75-year-old Franco steps down or is retired by illness or death. This maneuvering involves neo-Fascist Falange party stalwarts, the monarchists, the Catholic lay order "Opus Dei," as well as the young technocrats who are less concerned with ideology than in getting Spain developed economically. Underlining the increasingly open struggle of these groups and such powerful underground organizations as the Communist-Jesuit "workers' commissions" is a sudden re-emergence of political speculation.

Nowhere has this become more evident than a flurry of persistent unconfirmed reports about the potential role of the armed forces in forming the coup "to liberate Franco from future Spanish political scene. Traditionally, the military has been one of the three main pillars of Franco's power, the others being the Roman Catholic church and the monarchist-leaning upper classes.

Suddenly, however, nobody is taking the military for granted and rumors are rampant that the military will emulate Greece and step in as the supreme arbiters of the nation's politics.

The months ago, rumors alleged ultra-conservative Falange generals were preparing a

A second rumor has since appeared alleging that monarchist generals were planning a coup to return the throne to Don Juan de Borbon y Battenberg, exiled son of Spain's late King Alfonso XIII. While none of these reports is given much credence by well-informed sources, the fact that they are being bandied about is a good indication of just how much things have changed in recent months.

neo-Fascist Falange party stalwarts, the monarchists, the Catholic lay order "Opus Dei," as well as the young technocrats who are less concerned with ideology than in getting Spain developed economically.

Underlining the increasingly open struggle of these groups and such powerful underground organizations as the Communist-Jesuit "workers' commissions" is a sudden re-emergence of political speculation. Nowhere has this become more evident than a flurry of persistent unconfirmed reports about the potential role of the armed forces in forming the future Spanish political scene. Traditionally, the military has been one of the three main pillars of Franco's power, the others being the Roman Catholic church and the monarchist-leaning upper classes.

Suddenly, however, nobody is taking the military for granted and rumors are rampant that the military will emulate Greece and step in as the supreme arbiters of the nation's politics. The months ago, rumors alleged ultra-conservative Falange generals were preparing a coup "to liberate Franco from the liberal influences" of the Opus Dei ministers in the cabinet. A second rumor has since appeared alleging that monarchist generals were planning a coup to return the throne to Don Juan de Borbon y Battenberg, exiled son of Spain's late King Alfonso XIII. While none of these reports is given much credence by well-informed sources, the fact that they are being bandied about is a good indication of just how much things have changed in recent months.

15-Year-Old Prisoner of War Happy Over Status

BY GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
DONG TAM, Vietnam (AP)

The 15-year-old boy lay tucked like an infant in the hospital bed, a smiling kid with wondering eyes whose medical tag inconspicuously read "prisoner of war."

Military accounts of tough North Vietnamese soldiers and grueling jungle marches somehow seemed ridiculously remote from the smooth-cheeked boy with the bandage on his right arm.

In the past three months, however, Nguyen Van Qui was uprooted from his North Vietnamese village, hastily trained to fight and marched 1,000 miles to a war he understands hardly at all.

American intelligence men say the youngster is typical of replacements Hanoi is feeding into the Viet Cong, which already is composed mainly of Northerners.

A Celebrity

In the hospital of the U.S. 9th Division at Dong Tam, young soldier Qui is a minor celebrity. Generals and colonels ask about his progress. His nominal guards keep him well supplied with the menthol cigarettes for which he acquired a taste.

"I am lucky," the young man said through an interpreter. "If I had not been captured by the Americans I would surely have lost my arm."

An American bullet slashed down the arm and lodged in his wrist. Operations have restored some movement in Qui's fingers and doctors are confident the arm will soon be almost normal.

Until he was captured, Qui had never seen an American. Until he was drafted last January he had never even seen a foreigner. Never been outside his district and knew only vaguely that a war was going on.

He recalls that on Jan. 15 of this year the soldiers came to his village of An Thanh, about 50 miles below Hanoi.

"My mother cried and tried to stop them," he said. "But they said that 15-year-olds now have to serve."

A bemused young "chien sip," or ordinary soldier, Qui got a month's training and political indoctrination and after a short leave started for Nam Dinh by truck on Feb. 13.

The indoctrination left little marks on the 15-year-old peasant boy with only five year's schooling and a hankering to be a carpenter. He knew that Ho Chi Minh was the "leader" of North Vietnam but the name of Vo Nguyen Giap, the Hanoi military boss, means nothing to him.

He does recall most vividly that he was told the cities of South Vietnam were under Viet Cong control and the people would welcome him.

"They lied to me," he shrugged.

He doesn't regard his 1,000-mile march as any great hardship. He was never bombed, though nearby units were. He recalls marching through Cambodia where the people were kind and young girls served as their guides.

Once in South Vietnam, however, things changed. He was assigned to the 261st Main Force Battalion which was always on the move.

Glad He Was Left

When the first battle came and he was wounded, he was left behind, which made him angry. Now he says he is glad he was left behind.

After more than two weeks in the American hospital, Qui claims to like the Americans and says he is willing to fight for South Vietnam.

That, however, is put down by his interrogators as just "prisoner talk."

"He's just a kid," said a ranking American officer. "When he gets well he will go into the prisoner cages with the hardened types. You know what will happen then."

YMCA Gets Grant for Neighborhood Youth Corps Project

Robert D. Stubbs, executive director of the YMCA has announced that for the second summer, the United States Department of Labor is providing a grant to the 'Y' of Kingston and Ulster County, in cooperation with the Ulster County Community Action Committee, to sponsor a county-wide neighborhood youth corps project.

"While the amount of the grant is not yet definite, we anticipate it will be about $44,000," Stubbs said.

Last summer's youth corps project involved 113 teenage boys and girls from low-economic families in supervised work experiences in Kingston, Saugerties, New Paltz, Ellenville, Wallkill, Phoenicia, and other Ulster County Communities. The YM anticipates that a similar number will be involved in this summer's project, although funding may require reducing the hours per week worked from 32 to 26.

Neighborhood Youth Corps is fundamentally an attack on the school-dropout problem. Almost all school districts have responded with the names of students who are in danger of dropping out of school. While there are many causes of dropouts, the primary cause appears related to the low economic level of the family from which the potential dropouts come. These teenage boys and girls need meaningful, supervised work experience, counseling and training.

The YM is now seeking openings for approximately 100 enrollees. Arrangements will be similar to last year, that is, the employing agency agrees to provide on-the-job supervision and training in exchange for services rendered by the enrollee.

The YM will pay the full cost of the enrollee's weekly wages, recruit and assign enrollees to job stations, and provide counseling, referral, and follow up services.

"Present information indi-

Historical Speaker

"The DAR Story" was the subject of Mrs. Howard Laib, guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Rhinebeck Historical Society.

A work committee was scheduled for May 14 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Troy II on Mountain View Road.

Mrs. Ernest von Brand has assumed the responsibility for the hospitality committee.

The regular meeting for May will be held May 24 instead of the last Friday which coincides with Memorial Day. It will be held at 8 p.m. at the Rhinebeck Dutch Reformed Church.

Clifford Buck of Salt Point will be guest speaker. Buck is a local authority on deed research.

Participating agencies must agree not to discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, or national origin.

According to Stubbs, the program is intended to help keep the enrollees in school until graduation, and then to enable them to be more employable for having had this summer work-training experience.

Among the provisions of the Neighborhood Youth Corps are the following: An employing agency must be either a federal, state, or local public agency or a private non-profit organization.

The job must be useful, and must not replace someone currently employed.

Enrollees will be $1.50 per hour, and they will be limited to 26 hours per week for nine weeks. Based on this preliminary information, we plan to begin this summer's program on June 24 and conclude on Aug. 24," Stubbs said.

Also, maintenance aide, survey aide, laboratory aide, story reader, groundskeeper aide, program aide, tour aide, general school aide, and many others.

The YMCA has contacted all agencies and organizations that have expressed an interest in providing job stations to date. Others interested should contact the Y.

YMCA Gets Grant for Neighborhood Youth Corps Project

Robert D. Stubbs, executive director of the YMCA has announced that for the second summer, the United States Department of Labor is providing a grant to the 'Y' of Kingston and Ulster County, in cooperation with the Ulster County Community Action Committee, to sponsor a county-wide neighborhood youth corps project.

While the amount of the grant is not yet definite, we anticipate it will be about $44,000," Stubbs said.

Last summer's youth corps project involved 113 teenage boys and girls from low-economic families in supervised work experiences in Kingston, Saugerties, New Paltz, Ellenville, Wallkill, Phoenicia, and other Ulster County Communities. The YM anticipates that a similar number will be involved in this summer's project, although funding may require reducing the hours per week worked from 32 to 26.

Neighborhood Youth Corps is fundamentally an attack on the school dropout problem. All most all school districts have responded with the names of students who are in danger of dropping out of school. While there are many causes of dropouts, the primary cause appears related to the low economic level of the family from which the potential dropouts come. These teenage boys and girls need meaningful, supervised work experience, counseling and training.

The YM is now seeking openings for approximately 100 enrollees. Arrangements will be similar to last year, that is, the employing agency agrees to provide on-the-job supervision and training in exchange for services rendered by the enrollee.

The YM will pay the full cost of the enrollee's weekly wages, recruit and assign enrollees to job stations, and provide counseling, referral, and follow up services.

"Present information indicates that the rate of pay for enrollees will be $1.50 per hour, and they will be limited to 26 hours per week for nine weeks. Based on this preliminary information, we plan to begin this summer's program on June 24 and conclude on Aug. 24," Stubbs said.

Among the provisions of the Neighborhood Youth Corps are the following: An employing agency must be either a federal, state, or local public agency or a private non-profit organization.

The job must be useful, and must not replace someone currently employed.

Participating agencies must agree not to discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, or national origin.

According to Stubbs, the program is intended to help keep the enrollees in school until graduation, and then to enable them to be more employable for having had this summer work-training experience.

Among job classifications that will be considered for enrollees are: teacher aide, clerical aide, cafeteria aide, recreation aide, library aide, supply room aide, Also, maintenance aide, survey aide, laboratory aide, story reader, groundskeeper aide, program aide, tour aide, general school aide, and many others.

The YMCA has contacted all agencies and organizations that have expressed an interest in providing job stations to date. Others interested should contact the Y.

Local Reserves Back From Camp Drum: USAR Marks 60th Year

Members of the 854th Engineer Battalion, with two companies here in Kingston at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue, recently completed two weeks training at Camp Drum, Watertown.

A feature United Press International story by James P. Forkas is as follows. The United States Army Reserve is officially 60 years old this year.

The volunteer citizen-soldier has of course existed since the days of Valley Forge and the American Revolution, but the official civilian reservoir of potential military forces did not come into being as such until 1908, during Theodore Roosevelt's administration.

Slogans have been coined for the U.S. Army Reserve's (USAR) 60th anniversary. In addition to the "Strength in Reserve" slogan of recent years, the USAR has adopted the anniversary catch phrase, "Ready Since 1908 . . . 60 great years."

As the posters hint, strength and readiness are the two key words to the reserve's effectiveness.

The 60th Congress passed the legislation that established the Medical Reserve Corps, dwarfed by today's reserve numbers.

In that beginning, 364 officers could be mustered for military service," according to Maj. Gen. W.J. Sutton, Army Reserve chief. "Today more than one million officers and enlisted men and women, ready to serve this nation in any crisis, fill the ranks of our Ready Reserve and Standby Reserve."

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor described the reserve as "a proud tradition that took roots in the earliest days of American history."

Aim of the reserve is "to maintain the readiness to respond when needed and in the words of Gen. Harold K. Johnson, U.S. Army chief of staff, it has 'shown consistently that preparedness for national defense involves all Americans of every generation."

While little noticed by those outside political life, the USAR has been growing gradually through its 60 years via step-by-step legislation and planning to what Gen. Johnson calls it today—"a large and versatile military force."

The term "the Army of the United States was used for the first time 52 years ago to include with the regular Army such groups as the Reserve Corps and National Guard. Also in 1916 the ROTC program was set up by that years defense act.

Camp Origin

In addition, for the first time Army Reserve Corps units were able to be ordered to take part in training during 15 days of active duty. This is the origin of the reservists summer camp commitment.

With U.S. entry into World War I, all Army reservists available were called to active duty. The Army's regular force strength amounted to 200,000 men but by the time the armistice had been signed that force had swelled to almost 4 million.

By the end of World War II, over 200,000 Army Reserve officers alone had served in the hand.

USARs readiness, saw 400,000 reservists activated.

The Universal Military Training and Service Act of 1951 imposed a reserve obligation on all who served in the military after June 1948. This was to assure that there would always be a sufficient reserve force on hand.

Accept Two Key Points

Conferees Agree on the Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have agreed to President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge but tied it to a $6 billion spending cut he has said is against the national interest.

The conferees said Wednesday they had accepted these two points which the Senate approved more than a month ago.

May Complete It Today

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the conferees as well as of the House Ways and Means Committee, voiced hope the group could complete work on many other amendments to the bill at a final session today.

The income-tax increase is the 10 per cent surcharge proposal applying to both individuals and corporations which the administration has been pushing since last August.

It would yield $10 billion on a yearly basis. It would last 13 months for individuals, from April 1 this year to June 30, 1969, and 18 months for corporations, retroactive from Jan. 1 this year to mid-1969.

About 17 million low-income taxpayers would be exempt.

The $6 billion spending reduction proposal has drawn heavy fire from Johnson and other administration officials.

The President told a news conference last Thursday that to go beyond a $4 billion cut in expenditures for the next year "would injure the national interest."

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a principal author of the package Senate amendment which included the tax boost and spending cut, said the conference action was "a fine victory."

Exempted from the spending cut would be funds for the Vietnam war, Social Security, veterans' payments and interest on the national debt.

It was understood the conferees also had agreed tentatively to Senate provisions for a rollback of about 150,000 in the number of federal employees and cuts of $10 billion in new appropriations for fiscal 1969.

They added to the measure a provision sought by the House delegation calling for cancellation of $8 billion in past, unspent appropriations.

The House did some slashing Wednesday when it passed and sent to the Senate a $13.67 billion appropriation bill for the Department of Housing and Urban Development and 20 independent agencies.

This was $2.89 billion less than the President had requested, boosting to about $4.5 billion the total cuts voted this year by the House in three bills. None has passed the Senate.

Assembly Burial Due for Campus Crimes, Aid Cut

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A quiet Assembly burial appeared today to be the probable future this year for a Senate-approved bill to strip state aid from students who commit on-campus crimes.

Senate Democrats looked confidently to Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia to kill in committee the Republican measure passed in the Senate Wednesday.

It was introduced by Republican Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges in reaction to the recent student disorder that paralyzed Columbia University and damaged university property.

Travia made it clear over the weekend that he deplores what happened at Columbia. But he made it equally clear that he regarded Brydges' proposal as a "pretty far-out bill" too broadly punitive.

Travia said he "completely disapproves" of the measure. In the Senate Wednesday, the legislation gained approval by a vote of 41-14, after a two-hour debate.

It would deny regent scholarships and scholar-incentive funds to a student convicted of committing a felony or specified misdemeanors on any college campus.

The scholarship program provides from $250 to $1,000 a year for scholarships and $100 to $500 a year for undergraduates and $200 to $800 a year for graduate students under the scholar-incentive plan.

Democrats—13 of whom voted against the measure—attacked it in debate as unnecessary and poorly drawn.

They contended, for example, that the state education law already authorizes revocation of such aid to students who violate college regulations.

Furthermore, they said, the bill would apply to students convicted of unlawful assembly in civil rights demonstrations on southern campuses.

Brydges and other Republicans countered by arguing the bill did not go far enough and that it would show students that the state was not willing to subsidize those who engage in criminal activity.

Brydges said he viewed the activity at Columbia as "part of a total conspiracy to disrupt the campuses in the United States..."

Engineers Set Dutchess Meet

Members of the Heat Transfer Technology Department of IBM will present a program on Thermal Aspects of Computer Design at the May 15 meeting of the Mid-Hudson Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The meeting is open to all engineers interested in this subject and will be held in the IBM 701 Building auditorium on Boardman Road, Poughkeepsie starting at 8 p.m.

Slides will be shown illustrating experimental facilities in heat transfer development. A tour of the laboratory will be conducted immediately following a talk on basic heat transfer techniques for cooling data processing equipment.

Vly-Atwood Vols Set Ham Dinner; Elect Officers

The Vly-Atwood Fire Company will conduct its annual ham dinner Sunday, June 9 at the firehouse in Stone Ridge from 1-5 p.m.

Fire Chief Victor Merritt and volunteers will be going door-to-door in the area selling tickets to the dinner and accepting donations. According to Merritt the dinner has always enjoyed excellent attendance.

Officers were elected at the last meeting headed by Chief Merritt. Others include Bjour Weig, first assistant fire chief; Harry Davis, second assistant chief; Thomas C. Russell, president; William Coler Jr., first lieutenant and vice president; John Pismopoulos, captain and treasurer; Patrick Casey, secretary; John Wurster, trustee—three years; John Cirone, assistant captain; Wayne Mabie, second lieutenant and Edward Bundy, third lieutenant.

Phone Approval Is Benefit to Area Physicians

The Public Service Commission today granted a certificate of public convenience and necessity to Byrnes Message Bureau, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, under which it will provide direct two-way radio-telephone service from land telephones to automobiles equipped with transceivers.

The company informed the commission that the service is mainly for physicians in Ulster and Dutchess Counties.

Byrnes, a corporation organized in 1958, conducts a telephone answering service for some 240 subscribers and also has a common carrier radio station license through which it is authorized to serve a maximum of 50 mobile units from a transmitter at 15 Virginia Avenue in Poughkeepsie.

Presently, it operates such radio-telephone service for 12 direct radio-telephone connections from a land-based phone and the subscriber vehicle. It will now be possible to interconnect the message bureau radio dispatching system with the lines of New York Telephone Company for communication between mobile stations and customers of New York Telephone and its connecting carriers.

Nickerson Confident He Will Win Nomination for Senator

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Eugene H. Nickerson is drifting around New York State with the air of a man who has no doubts about the outcome of the June 18 primary contest for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator. Plainly he is confident of winning his three-way race with U. S. Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick and former New York Councilman Paul O'Dwyer. Most observers of the New York political scene are inclined to agree.

Resnick and O'Dwyer obviously don't see it that way, but the normal election barometers seem to point Nickerson's way—at least at this stage of the proceedings.

Nickerson, the county executive of Nassau, has a big advantage by virtue of being the Democratic State Committee's official choice to run against Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits in November.

Under terms of the state's new direct-primary law, Nickerson was nominated by the committee, while Resnick finished with enough runner-up votes to win a place automatically on the primary election ballot. Not so in O'Dwyer's case.

To get on the ballot, O'Dwyer must submit nominating petitions bearing the signatures of at least 50 enrolled Democrats in each of 47 of the state's 62 counties. The word is that he is having difficulty fulfilling the requirement.

O'Dwyer's problem seems to be that he has little political identity outside New York City. Democratic elements because of his self-proclaimed presidential hopeful Eugene J. McCarthy.

Resnick suffers from a similar identity gap the farther he ranges from his Hudson Valley congressional district.

While Nickerson hardly could be considered a political "big name," he did reap some publicity from his effort to win the party's nomination for governor in 1966.

He is inclined, however, to discount this, in good-natured fashion.

"Oh, I have trouble beating off the admiring crowds," he said with a grin during a conversation with Capitol newsmen this week.

Nickerson places much greater value on the fact that he is the state committee's official choice for the nomination. This makes him the organization's candidate, bearing the stamp of approval of U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

While the committee is forbidden by law from giving financial aid to its nominee, it can help him in other ways — and has. Chairman John J. Burns, for example, has wielded his influence to produce formal endorsements of Nickerson by 43 counties. This means that Nickerson has a ready entree in most communities during his campaign visits around the state. More important, party workers will be bringing out the votes for him on primary day.

CABLEVISION PROJECT — Kingston Cablevision, Inc., has begun site preparation on the west side of Route 9W at Port Ewen for the installation of a completely new "head end" antenna array and master control center. The top 20 feet is being cut from the recently purchased hill on a 15-acre site to provide a man-made plateau to accommodate the latest parabolic antenna, which will be 80 feet high by 260 feet wide, according to William Krajci, general manager. Site work as well as reconstruction of the present building — has been contracted to various local trades. The antenna is being designed and constructed by specialists, Beaver Television Associates of Downsview, Ontario. That firm conducted its own survey, confirming exhaustive studies made by Cablevision to locate the site for the best signal reception. The project is under direction of Krajci and John L. Seibert, administrator of construction engineering for the National Broadcasting Co., Inc.

PREPARES DISPLAY — Joseph Hoffman, director of Graphics for VerTis Company, Inc., of Gardiner, is shown making final adjustments in the display area which he designed. VerTis exhibited their research equipment to a record-breaking attendance of 25,000 at the recent Federation of American Societies of Experimental Biology at Convention Hall in Atlantic City, N. J. The FASEB, the largest meeting in the field of Life Sciences in the world, is held for the purpose of discussion and presentation of research papers on experimental biological findings. VerTis has participated in the event for many years, and informs the scientific public of the new developments in instrumentation, equipment and accessories essential to the biological laboratory. This year VerTis is participating in 17 smaller meetings in the United States, and is represented by dealers at other meetings in Canada, Mexico, Europe and Asia.

'Unrealistically High' Prices Of Procurement Contracts Aired

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House Armed Services subcommittee that investigated the M16 rifle a year ago will reconvene to examine what its chairman calls "unrealistically high" prices in two new procurement contracts.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., said Wednesday his subcommittee also plans to ask the Army why it rejected the bid of an arms manufacturer whose price was $20 million below that of one successful bidder, General Motors.

mined with the quoted prices will be subject to negotiation downward.

It attributed the difference in price between the GM and H&R contracts to higher wage scales at GM and to varying tooling up costs.

Harrington & Richardson was a major producer of the M14 rifle and much of its equipment can be utilized in M16 production, the Army said. According to Labor Department figures, the average manufacturing employee in the Detroit area earns $167.74 a week. In Worcester, the average is $118.89.

Four Sought Contracts
Four firms sought the new M16 contracts after the Defense Department announced early last month that additional sources of supply would be needed. Until now, the sole supplier of the M16 has been Colt Industries, Inc., Hartford, Conn.

In addition to GM, H&R and Maremont, Cadillac Gage of Warren, Mich., made an offer, but officials of that firm have declined to discuss details of their proposal.

Opening Tuesday
"I believe the public is entitled to a full explanation of the matter and we intend to examine the whole matter in detail," Ichord said.

The subcommittee, which charged in its report last October that the M16 program had been "grossly mismanaged," will reopen hearings next Tuesday.

The latest M16 furor erupted after Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., told the Senate that Maremont Co., of Saco, Maine—sole supplier of the Army's M60 machine gun—failed to get one of two contracts awarded despite its offer to supply 240,000 rifles for a ceiling price of $36 million.

Instead two-year contracts for production of 240,000 rifles each were awarded to Harrington & Richardson of Worcester, Mass., at a ceiling price of $42 million and to Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors, Ypsilanti, Mich., for $56 million.

The Army issued Wednesday what it called a fact sheet on the latest M16 contracts in which it emphasized that once manufacturing costs are deter-

Roadside Pickup

The Woodstock Cleanup

The May Cleanup Drive in Woodstock moves into high gear this weekend. Both the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber are cooperating in the drive by offering to pick up on Saturday anything and everything considered by home owners to be refuse. Pickups of items ranging from old refrigerators to boxes of trash can be arranged by calling for such service by this Friday evening at the latest. The volunteers request only that items to be picked up be placed beside the road.

Residents who wish to avail themselves of this service may do so by calling Paul deLisio or the Ulster County Townsman office, both listed in the Woodstock telephone directory, and giving their names and addresses.

Sentence Given In Narcotics Raid

Luis A. Rosado, 30, of Ellenville, one of six Town of Wawarsing men arrested in the March 1 narcotics raid, was sentenced in county court Wednesday to the care of a state rehabilitation center.

Rosado, who last month entered a plea of guilty to conspiracy, second degree was certified by Judge Raymond J. Mino as a narcotic addict and assigned to the care and custody of a State Narcotic Control Commission facility for five years or prior discharge as rehabilitated.

Joseph Traficanti Jr., defense counsel pleaded for assignment of his client to a rehabilitation center. Certification was with the consent of the district attorney's office. Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for the DA's office. The defendant was remanded to county jail until such time as his transfer can be arranged.

Rochester Sets Water District Meeting May 16

Supervisor Franklin S. Keller announced that a public informational meeting has been scheduled, relative to the recently prepared Water Feasibility Study for the Pataukunk, Clay and Timothy Estates area of the Town of Rochester.

The meeting will be held May 16, 8 p. m., at the First Municipal Building in Pataukunk. Aaron Horowitz, engineer, will be present to explain and answer questions regarding the Water Feasibility Study, which he prepared.

The narcotics raid was a combined venture of the United Narcotics Control by Law Enforcement unit (U.N.C.L.E.) including the staff of District Attorney Joseph P. Torracca and his Narcotics Bureau headed by Thomas Mayone, the state police Bureau of Criminal Information, and Ellenville Police Chief Abe Rand and his staff.

Authorities at the time of the raid revealed that all are narcotics users except Mutz. At the hearing the day after the raid, it was reported Lopez and Guzman showed withdrawal symptoms and required treatment from an Ellenville physician. Authorities said a quantity of heroin valued at $400 to $500 was confiscated.

Man Charged With Murder

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police have charged Franklin A. Keller of this city with the murder of Mrs. Raymond Herr whose nearly nude body was found in a parking lot near her home early Wednesday.

They said Keller, 25, was charged late Wednesday. He was one of nine persons with Mrs. Herr in a tavern before the murder, they said.

The Monroe County Medical examiner said Mrs. Herr died of a fractured skull, and police theorized she received it when she fell against an automobile in the parking lot.

Detective Lt. Anthony Fantagrossi said a rope was found around the woman's neck and her slacks were wrapped around her face. Her empty purse was found nearby, he said.

Keller is married and the father of a nine-month-old boy. Keller's address is 15 Cutler St.

Robert Kelder, Harry Snyder and John B. Wilkie. Also serving on the committee for the August 17 event are Mrs. E. J. Civill and Mrs. Wessel Cross. Houses to be open are homes of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Springer, Miss Barbara White, Miss Harriet Church, Dr. and Mrs. Ted Grenda, Mr. and Mrs. James Embree and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davenport. Cabin Break-In

The forest ranger cabin at Overlook Fire Tower on Mead Mountain, Town of Woodstock was broken into and a quantity of food stolen, it was reported to the County Sheriff's Office.

Forest Ranger John Baldwin reported the break-in after he had checked the cabin Wednesday afternoon. Sheriff's Deputies said entry was gained by prying the window open. A quantity of food was reported missing and a lamp broken. The incident is under investigation by Harold T. Bowers.

"The negotiations with the four companies covered only production and technical matters," the Army said. "After the two best sources had been chosen, each was then requested to submit a ceiling price, to be incorporated in a letter contract, with the understanding that negotiations would continue to establish a definitive price."

As for rejection of Maremont's bid, the Army said, "The two contracts were based upon an accelerated delivery requirement. The producers selected were judged to be the most capable of meeting this delivery schedule."

"The Maremont Corporation has considerable production capability and over-all ability, but there was less assurance that it could meet the accelerated schedule."

According to the Army, none of the four firms was asked to quote a price during the first phase of the negotiations which it said began last March. But, the Army said, price competition had begun as early as October 1967.

The cases of the other defendants was adjourned to May 22 at 11 a. m. They include Frank Vega, 40; Vistor Sanchez, Charles Mutz Sr., 72, and Benedetto Lopez, 23. Another defendant in the case, Harry Guzman, 23, was committed to Middletown State Hospital.

Mothers Honored

The regular meeting of Kingston Chapter No. 155, Order of Eastern Star, was held Friday at the Masonic Temple with worthy matron, Helen Pivovarski, and worthy patron, George Radcliffe, presiding. The meeting was dedicated to the mothers in honor of Mother's Day.

A card party will be on Saturday in the Masonic Temple. District deputy meetings will be held May 13 at Coxsack and May 20 at Ellenville. The next meeting of Kingston Chapter will be draping of the altar.

MRS. EFFIE PRATT, wife of William Pratt of Otis Street, Kingston, received congratulations from the Rev. Herbert Oliver, Conference Superintendent of the Free Methodist Church, on behalf of the New York Conference Women's Missionary Society who selected her Woman of the Year. The honor was conferred at the annual Missionary Convention banquet at Ironia Free Methodist Church, Dover, N.J., on April 20. Recognition was given Mrs. Pratt for the selfless devotion to the missionary cause, evidenced by the many boxes for missions at home and overseas which she has sent each year. The orchid corsage was pinned by Elizabeth Reynolds, missionary nurse, on furlough from the Dominican Republic, who also made the presentation speech. (Freeman photo by Haines)

American Day Dinner Is Planned Here

On May 17 the Ulster County Women's Republican Club will celebrate "I Am an American" day with a dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel scheduled for 7 p. m. in the Crystal Room.

"I Am an American" day was first established in 1940 when a joint resolution, Public Resolution 67, was passed by the Congress on May 3, setting aside the third Sunday in May of each year as a public occasion for the recognition of all who, by coming of age or naturalization, have attained the status of citizenship.

In the discussion of the Senate joint resolution of 1940, emphasis was placed upon the desirability of having citizenship celebrations in order to stimulate a warm regard for the principles of the Constitution and a better understanding of the true values of citizenship as defined in the Constitution and in the Bill of Rights.

In a year when the Bill of Rights is so much a part of our daily life, it seems rather fitting that the Republican Women of Ulster should sponsor an event with the emphasis placed on the heritage of being an American.

The Hon. Lourene W. George, member of the House of Representatives Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, will be guest speaker for the evening.

Ticket are available from Miss Cordelia Feltnan, Mrs. John Salayatis and Mrs. Lucille Ingarrta or by calling any officer of the club and will also be available at the door.

GOP WOMEN PLAN DINNER — The Ulster County Women's Republican Club is planning an "I Am an American" day dinner for Friday, May 17, at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Making arrangements are (L-R) Mrs. Frederick Stang, president; Mrs. Marguerite Deringer, third vice president; Mrs. Walter Caunitz, dinner chairman; Mrs. Raymond LeFever, vice chairman and mistress of ceremonies for the dinner. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Hunter Pitches 2nd Perfect Game in AL

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Jim (Catfish) Hunter joined baseball's immortals Wednesday night when he retired all 27 batters he faced in pitching the Oakland Athletics to a perfect no-hit, 4-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

The six foot righthander from Hertford, N.C., also recorded the first perfect game in regular American League competition since 1922 when Charlie Robertson of the Chicago White Sox bested the Detroit Tigers, 2-0.

The last perfect major league game to be recorded before Hunter's masterpiece was by southpaw Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers when he turned back the Chicago Cubs, 1-0, on Sept. 9, 1965.

Don Larsen of the New York Yankees hurled the only perfect game in World Series history against Brooklyn on Oct. 8, 1956.

Fans 11 Batters

Hunter fanned a total of 11 batters including pinch hitter Rich Reese in the ninth who ran the count to three and two before the right hander fired across the strike which ended the game.

A crowd of 6,298, the second smallest home turnout this season at Oakland Coliseum, went wild after the last out and Hunter was mobbed at the mound.

Second No-Hitter

Hunter's no hitter was the second of the current season and both have been recorded in the American League. Tom Phoebus of the Baltimore Orioles achieved a 6-0, no hit victory against the Boston Red Sox on April 27.

Boswell, now 3-3, went six scoreless innings against Hunter. In the seventh Monday let off with a double for the A's, and one out later took third on the night. Hunter then beat out a chopper to the mound to bring across Monday.

The A's then loaded the bases in the eighth and Perranoski replaced Boswell with the count 2-0 against Floyd Robinson. Danny Cater then took over for Robinson and Perranoski threw two more balls which forced in Ramon Webster from third. Hunter followed with his second single of the night to bring in two more tallies.

Has Three RBIs

Hunter, who was on the disabled list in 1964 after being hit in the foot during a hunting accident, also drove in three runs.

He chopped a single which brought across Rick Monday in the seventh for the game's first score and then delivered a two run single at the expense of reliever Ron Perranoski in the eighth.

The Twins got just six balls out of the infield during the 2 hour and 38 minute contest, and only two of those involved tough chances.

Right fielder Reggie Jackson made a fine running catch of Ted Uhlander's blast to right centerfield in the fifth. Then Rod Carew lined sharply to leftfielder Joe Rudi, who was just called up from Vancouver, in the seventh.

Harmon Killebrew, Minnesota

ta's awesome slugger, struck out three times as did Bruce Look.

Fans the Side

Hunter struck the side out in the sixth, sending Jack Hernandez, Look and losing pitcher Dave Boswell back to the bench.

It was the first no hitter involving the Athletics since the Kansas City era when Jack

Kralick of Minnesota stopped them, 1-0, on Aug. 26, 1962.

The last A's pitcher to accomplish a no hitter was Bill

McCahan when the club still was in Philadelphia. He defeated Washington, 3-0, on Sept. 3,

Jim Says Fastball

Made It Possible

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—"I just tried to throw strikes. Control is the name of the game."

Jim (Catfish) Hunter, who turned 22 last month, was mobbed by teammates, newsmen and well-wishers in the clubhouse of the Oakland Athletics minutes after he hurled himself close to baseball's Hall of Fame by pitching a perfect game against the Minnesota Twins.

But in the wild tumult of the A's dressing room, the stocky North Carolina native wanted to talk as much about his hitting as his pitching. He drove in three of Oakland's four runs with an infield single in the seventh and a bases loaded single in the eighth.

"I just wanted to get up to bat to swing and get those runners home," he drawled, referring to his wait in the on-deck circle in the eighth inning. "I wanted to try to put one through the middle." Instead, he lined a single to right field.

Hunter, who retired 27 Twins in a row, fanning 11 of them, ironically wears No. 27 on his uniform. Calling the classic "my greatest thrill," he credited his fastball for getting him out of tough jams.

He Felt Good

"My fastball was what did it. It felt real good. I didn't have as much luck with my breaking ball. Sometimes it would break, sometimes it wouldn't. It wasn't really good."

The former Perquimans County High School three-sport athlete from Hertford, N.C., went to a 3-2 count on only six of the 27 batters he faced.

He had a count of 3-0 on Tony Oliva in the second inning but struck out the dangerous hitter.

"One of those balls was real close," said Hunter, "but I came back with my fastball and he swung a couple of times and missed."

"I just tried to throw strikes to everybody. Control is the name of the game."

Handle Killebrew

Hunter, who was the losing pitcher for the American League in the 1967 All Star game, said he was most concerned about Twins slugger Harmon Killebrew who has hit seven home runs so far this season. Killebrew struck out three times, twice on called third strikes.

"Against Killebrew, I just tried to beat down and throw a strike. I didn't want to let him hit the ball out of the park on me. I hoped he'd miss or pop up."

Will Succeed Willard Burke

Head football coach William J. Hurley became Kingston High's third athletic director in 40 years Wednesday night, when the Board of Education by a 6 to 1 vote named him as successor to Willard A. Burke.

Hurley, who has coached football since 1962, was one of two candidates for the post. Basketball coach John J. Gilligan was the other.

Following a lengthy executive session attended in part by Hurley, the board acted on Superintendent of School W. Wendell Hoover's recommendation that Hurley be appointed Director of Physical Education and Athletics on the 5th step of the appropriate salary schedule.

The appointment becomes effective on July 1, with the salary to be fixed later.

Trustee Ellsworth L. Johnson moved that the board accept Superintendent Hoover's recommendation and the motion was seconded by Trustee Thomas W. Reynolds Jr.

Started in 1948

Hurley, who is 43, joined the Kingston Consolidated School System in 1948. He coached Jayvee basketball and football and track and field events that year. He was appointed line coach in football in 1958 under Coach Burke, succeeding the late Russ Cunningham.

He continued to coach track but dropped Jayvee basketball in 1958.

In addition, Hurley was wrestling coach in 1964 and 1965. When Willard A. Burke resigned the football post in 1963 to succeed G. Warren Kias as athletic director, Hurley was named head football coach. Kias, incidentally, had held the AD's post from 1928 to 1963 and in his early days coached all three major sports — football, baseball and basketball.

A graduate of Groton High at Yonkers, Hurley received his BA degree in economics at Alfred University and his BS degree in physical education at Cortland State. He earned his Masters in administration at Columbia University.

Only Two Considered

So far as is known, Hurley and Gilligan were the only two candidates for the post being relinquished by Burke. Both had the required qualifications, with Hurley having an advantage of one year in seniority over the highly successful basketball mentor.

The selection of Hurley was not a routing appointment in any sense of the word. Both Superintendent Hoover and board of education members deliberated at some length before reaching a decision. Each had been subjected to heavy outside pressure in behalf of both candidates. There was even speculation that the administration might go outside the system to select Burke's successor but this never materialized.

Hurley's appointment creates a vacancy in the football staff and the administration anticipates several candidates. Reliable reports indicate that three outstanding Mid-Hudson area coaches are interested in the post.

George Neher, a former Saunderstown High School football star, is the present assistant football coach.

The formal announcement of the football vacancy is expected to be made within the next few days and the administration will begin the process of considering applicants.

If the administration chooses to stay within the system, Neher would appear to be in the running. The remainder of the football staff includes Ronald Cole and Floyd McCormick as Jayvee coaches and Frank Modica, coach of freshman football.

Head football coach William J. Hurley became Kingston High's third athletic director in 40 years Wednesday night, when the Board of Education by a 6 to 1 vote named him as successor to Willard A. Burke.

Hurley, who has coached football since 1963, was one of two candidates for the post. Basketball coach John J. Gilligan was the other.

Following a lengthy executive session attended in part by Hurley, the board acted on Superintendent of School W. Wendell Hoover's recommendation that Hurley be appointed Director of Physical Education and Athletics on the 5th step of the appropriate salary schedule.

The appointment becomes effective on July 1, with the salary to be fixed later.

Trustee Ellsworth L. Johnson moved that the board accept Superintendent Hoover's recommendation and the motion was seconded by Trustee Thomas W. Reynolds Jr.

One Negative Vote

On the roll call vote, they were joined by Trustees Arthur H. Whithall, board president; Bevier H. Sleight, Jr., Milton L. Reynolds and Mrs. Peter D. Corsones.

Trustee Harold E. Keator Jr., dissented without comment.

Trustees Hubert Hoderath and Richard P. Boice did not attend the meeting.

Started in 1948

Hurley, who is 45, joined the Kingston Consolidated School System in 1948. He coached Jayvee basketball and football and track and field events that year. He was appointed line coach in football in 1958 under Coach Burke, succeeding the late Russ Cunningham.

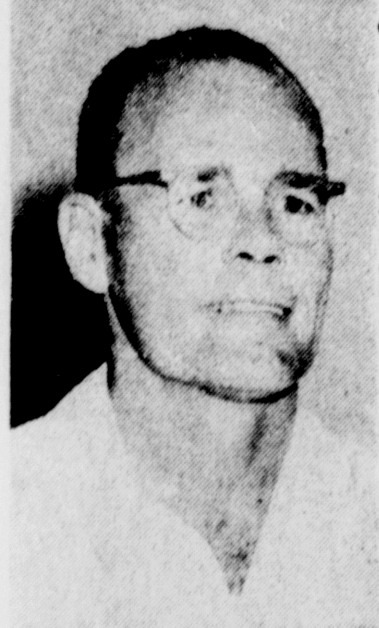

He continued to coach track but dropped Jayvee basketball in 1958.

In addition, Hurley was wrestling coach in 1964 and 1965. When Willard A. Burke resigned the football post in 1963 to succeed G. Warren Kias as athletic director, Hurley was named head football coach. Kias, incidentally, had held the AD's post from 1928 to 1963 and in his early days coached all three major sports — football, baseball and basketball.

A graduate of Groton High at Yonkers, Hurley received his BA degree in economics at Alfred University and his BS degree in physical education at Cortland State. He earned his Masters in administration at Columbia University.

So far as is known, Hurley and Gilligan were the only two candidates for the post being relinquished by Burke. Both

Only Two Considered

So far as is known, Hurley and Gilligan were the only two candidates for the post being relinquished by Burke. Both had the required qualifications, with Hurley having an advantage of one year in seniority over the highly successful basketball mentor.

The selection of Hurley was not a routing appointment in any sense of the word. Both Superintendent Hoover and board of education members deliberated at some length before reaching a decision. Each had been subjected to heavy outside pressure in behalf of both candidates. There was even speculation that the administration might go outside the system to select Burke's successor but this never materialized.

Hurley's appointment creates a vacancy in the football staff and the administration anticipates several candidates. Reliable reports indicate that three outstanding Mid-Hudson area coaches are interested in the post.

George Neher, a former Saugerties High School football star, is the present assistant football coach.

The formal announcement of the football vacancy is expected to be made within the next few days and the administration will begin the process of considering applicants.

If the administration chooses to stay within the system, Neher would appear to be in the running. The remainder of the football staff includes Ronald Cole and Floyd McCormick as jayvee coaches and Frank Modica, coach of freshman football.

Pine Bush Topples Onteora And Captures UCAL Lead

Onteora and Pine Bush, UCAL cinder leaders, battled down to the final relay at Onteora last night. Pine Bush captured the 880-relay and the Bushmen established themselves as the top contender in the UCAL with a 65-62 victory.

Pine Bush can be dethroned only if Onteora takes first in the UCAL meet. Pine Bush (5-0) is presently leading Onteora (4-1) by one full meet.

The strengths of the two almost evenly matched teams are different. Pine Bush has depth. Onteora has stars. The Bushmen won only seven of the 15 events and had no double winners.

Onteora won eight events and picked up double victories from sprinter Dave Snyder, Dale Chauncey and jumper Fred Middleton. Craig Hubbell, OCS' outstanding two-miler, triumphed in his usual sterling style.

The Indians led 62-60 near the end of the meet and the outcome hung on the 880-relay. The Bushmen quartet of John Lorensen, Chris Moore, Rafael DeJesus and Dave Chase turned in a time of 1:39.0, out-standing for the sandy Boiceville track.

Double winning Snyder has lost only one race, to Gordie Taylor of Rondout. Chauncey won the shot put and the discus and Middleton was first in the long jump and the triple jump.

Onteora and Pine Bush will both contend at the Hudson Valley Relays in New Paltz on Saturday.

The score:

150-Yd hurdles — Steve Crist (PB), Ostrander (O), Reid (PB), Time 2:23.4.
100-Yd dash — Dave Snyder (O), Moore (PB), Muller (PB), Time 1:10.6.
220-Yd dash — Dave Snyder (O), Chase (PB), Crist (PB), Time 2:24.1.
440-Yd dash — Steve Martin (PB), Van Eeten (O), Lamonia (PB), Time 1:24.2.

Kentucky Derby Rhubarb

There Is No Winner Yet, Steward Claims

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—An obviously annoyed Leo O'Donnell, a steward at Churchill Downs race track, announced Wednesday night that he and his fellow stewards "never said Dancer's Image was not the winner of last Saturday's Kentucky Derby."

"All we did," said O'Donnell, "was send the rule governing drug administration around the world. That should be plain enough for anyone to understand."

The statement concerning Dancer's Image's disqualification, after a pain-killing drug was found in the horse's urine following the race, was made by W. H. Knebelkamp, president of Churchill Downs.

O'Donnell said Knebelkamp at the present time under suspension.

Referring to Lou Cavalaris, the trainer of Dancer's Image, O'Donnell said, "again all we did was quote the rule which makes him and his assistants responsible for any horse they enter in a race. Cavalaris must remain inactive until the outcome of the hearing but he can still play a supervisory role."

O'Donnell said that there still has been no redistribution of the Derby's purse, but "the rule says any horse receiving a drug such as Dancer's Image apparently cannot share in the purse."

Knebelkamp said any further statements would have to come from the stewards.

Hearing Is Set—Fuller

BOSTON (UPI)—Peter Fuller, owner of Dancer's Image, said Wednesday night that he had received word that "as of now there is no winner" of the Kentucky Derby.

Fuller also said the Maryland Racing Commission, after consulting its Kentucky counterpart, had told him his trainer, Lou Cavalaris, could train the horse for the Preakness a week from Saturday but could not go in the paddock to saddle him.

Dancer's Image will stay in Maryland to prepare for the Preakness, Fuller said, adding, "The horse will not run in the Preakness unless Lou saddles him and harnesses him."

Fuller said the ruling Tuesday disqualifying Dancer's Image as the winner of Saturday's race because samples of a pain-killing drug were found in his urine arose from a "misinterpretation" by Churchill Downs President W. Knebelkamp. Fuller did not go into details of the "misinterpretation," saying that that was simply what his Louisville lawyers, Arthur Grafton Sr., had told him.

Yankees Option Ferraro to Syracuse

On Recall In 24 Hours

Mike Ferraro of Kingston appears to have temporarily lost his bid for the regular third baseman's post with the New York Yankees.

The Yankees Wednesday optioned Mike to their Syracuse farm club of the International League.

Ferraro was notified of the move by Manager Ralph Houk early Wednesday and made a quick trip to Kingston last night. He is scheduled to join the Chiefs in Columbus, Ohio, tonight.

It is Mike's second trip to Syracuse. He started the 1967 season there and midway through the campaign was sent on a loan basis to Los Angeles Dodgers' team at Spokane and his fine second half season earned him an invitation to spring training camp with the Yankees.

Won Dawson Award
Ironically, Ferraro was the most impressive Yankee hitter in spring training, with Andy Kosco, and won the third-base position which had been conceded to Bobby Cox, whom the Yankees had purchased from Richmond.

He was voted the coveted James P. Dawson Memorial

MIKE FERRARO

Award given annually to the outstanding rookie in the Yankee spring training season.

Houk installed Ferraro at third base over Cox, who had a dismal spring, and played Mike for 13 games. He had managed only one hit in his last 26 at bats as his average dwindled to .146, with 8 hits in 55 at bats. He lost his starting position to Cox three weeks ago.

Cox, rated a "late starter," reached the .200 mark with one hit in two trips against Cleveland Wednesday and has been adequate in the field. The Yankee skipper assured

Mike in their Wednesday conversation that he would be brought back to the stadium, if Cox and Charlie Smith don't hold up.

One Vacant Spot

The farming out of Ferraro leaves one vacant spot on the Yankee roster and that will be filled by third baseman Charlie Smith as soon as he is ready to play.

Smith had an operation on his knee during the off season and has seen no action this year. He was scheduled to start in the exhibition game at West Point today.

The reactivation of Smith would have created an unprecedented situation of three third basemen at the same time.

Furthermore, the Yankees have a sizeable investment in Cox and Houk said yesterday.

Police Break Up Trouble on Campuses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Student demonstrations at three Midwestern universities have been broken up by police as militant protests continue to disturb the calm of academic life on a number of U.S. campuses.

Police were called in Wednesday night at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Roosevelt University in Chicago and Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

There was a peaceful ending, however, to a three-day sit-in at Stanford University in California when about 400 youths walked out of the Old Student Union they had held since Monday.

The end came after the Academic Council—the top faculty body—voted to recommend that Stanford president Wallace Sterling set aside the proposed suspensions of seven students who demonstrated against CIA recruiters last fall.

In Chicago police arrested 24 student demonstrators at Roosevelt University after they refused to leave a corridor outside the office of President Rolf A. Wil.

The students, protesting Weil's veto of the full-time hiring of controversial history instructor Staughton Lynd, submitted peacefully to arrest after being threatened with expulsion if they did not leave.

Police said they were charged with trespassing and held on $250 bond each. Weil termed the students willful law breakers and said they had left the administrative council no choice but to call in police.

Lynd, former Yale professor, defied a State Department ban in 1965 to travel to Communist China and North Vietnam.

Sweet Economy

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — California sugar beet growers are sweetening the state's economy by an estimated $210 million a year. That is how many dollars the $4 million crop generates in related industries—sugar mills, railroads, truck lines, utility companies, chemical plants, petroleum companies and machinery manufacturers, among others.

Malcolm Young, executive manager of the California Beet Growers Association reports that for every dollar received by the sugar beet grower, economists estimate that $2.50 is generated in the economy.

Governor Appoints

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has sent to the Senate for confirmation his reappointment of Roger W. Purcell of Manhattan to a five-year term on the Cornell University Board of Trustees.

The announcement of the reappointment was made Wednesday.

Police Break Up Trouble on Campuses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Student demonstrations at three Midwestern universities have been broken up by police as militant protests continue to disturb the calm of academic life on a number of U.S. campuses.

Police were called in Wednesday night at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Roosevelt University in Chicago and Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

There was a peaceful ending, however, to a three-day sit-in at Stanford University in California when about 400 youths walked out of the Old Student Union they had held since Monday.

The end came after the Academic Council—the top faculty body—voted to recommend that Stanford president Wallace Sterling set aside the proposed suspensions of seven students who demonstrated against CIA recruiters last fall.

In Chicago police arrested 24 student demonstrators at Roosevelt University after they refused to leave a corridor outside the office of President Rolf A. Wil.

The students, protesting Weil's veto of the full-time hiring of controversial history instructor Staughton Lynd, submitted peacefully to arrest after being threatened with expulsion if they did not leave.

Police said they were charged with trespassing and held on $250 bond each. Weil termed the students willful law breakers and said they had left the administrative council no choice but to call in police.

Lynd, former Yale professor, defied a State Department ban in 1965 to travel to Communist China and North Vietnam.

Sweet Economy

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — California sugar beet growers are sweetening the state's economy by an estimated $210 million a year. That is how many dollars the $84 million crop generates in related industries—sugar mills, railroads, truck lines, utility companies, chemical plants, petroleum companies and machinery manufacturers, among others.

Malcolm Young, executive manager of the California Beet Growers Association reports that for every dollar received by the sugar beet grower, economists estimate that $2.50 is generated in the economy.

Dear Abby

No Way to Get That Ring

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1968 Chi. Trib. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been receiving financial help from a married man who happens to be my boss. He is also my Number One boy friend. He says he loves me, and the only difference between our relationship and marriage is that he has to get up and go home.

I love him in a way, but a girl gets awfully tired hiding all the time. I would like to be able to get dressed up and go out with my man where I can see people and they can see me. And I would eventually like to be married.

Other men have asked me out, but I don't dare accept because it might get back to my boss. What can I do?

Am I destined to be stuck with this man behind closed doors for the rest of my life because I have accepted financial help from him? How does a woman get off this kind of merry-go-round?

DEAR TRAPPED: She walks out of his office and out of his life and finds another job. Then "help" like millions of other self-respecting women do. And if she's wise, she moves out of the city and leaves no forwarding address. All a girl gets from the kind of merry-go-round you're on is a brass ring. Try for a gold one.

DEAR ABBY: I am a junior in college and my parents have been divorced for over a year. I am an only child and I live with my father. We get along fairly well with one minor exception.

My father used to come home from work at 5:30 p.m. Now he doesn't get home until 10 p.m., or even later. I am glad he is going out socially, but I think he should tell me how late he intends to be and where I can locate him in case he gets a business call.

Dad says he is a big boy now and can take care of himself. I realize that, but I still think he should let me know where I can reach him at all times. Dad says it isn't necessary, and I want to know his whereabouts more out of nosiness than anything else. This is not true, Abby. Don't you think I'm right?

DEAR WORRIED: No. Obviously your father prefers his privacy to any possible advantages of being located during the evening for business reasons. It's his privilege, so don't press too hard.

DEAR ABBY: How important is a wedding ring? After many years of happy married life, I noticed my husband stopped wearing his wedding ring. I let it go for several weeks, hoping he would start wearing it again.

valuable contribution. Be grateful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You gain only if willing to sacrifice. Means you may have to give up some things to earn others. Not really a dilemma—message clear by tonight. Attend theater, special club or group.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You activate interest which has been dormant. Even certain friends reappear. Work with material at hand. Day can result in fulfillment of some fond hopes, wishes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Day features chance for change, travel, variety. You break out of mold. Means status quo due for shakeup. Tonight there could be recognition for job well done. Stand tall—stick to principles.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Recent conflict involving mate, partner or one who opposed you from legal stance can be resolved. Key is diplomacy. Make adjustment—and also an intelligent concession. You'll be ahead in end.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you tend to be artistic but in a practical way. You could sell the work of others, collect valuable creations. You need to feel in the midst of things. You abhor those who fail to appreciate talent. Greater social activity is due.

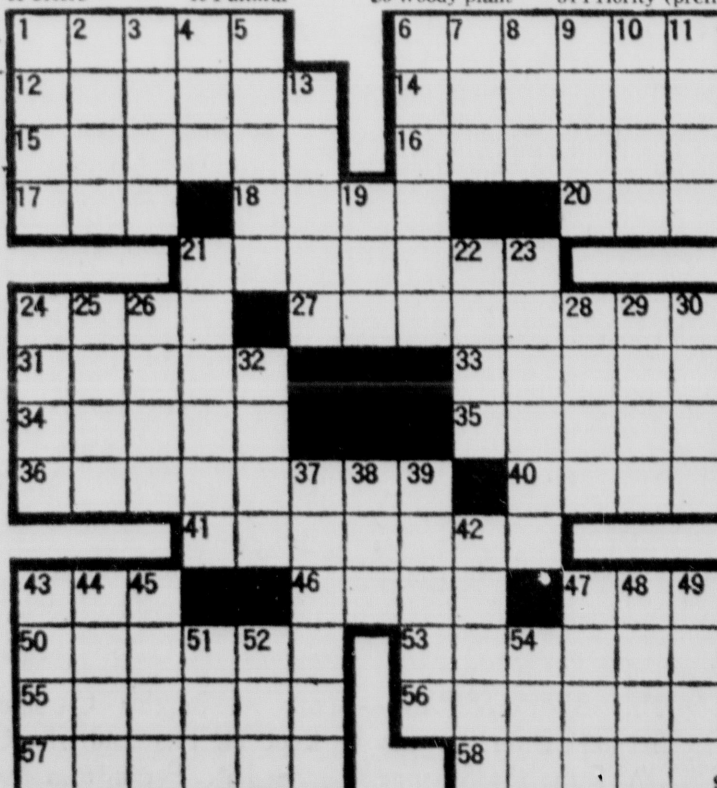

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Lunar position excellent for fishing, planting. Cycle high for SCORPIO. Special word to VIRGO: important to minister to needs of one who recently suffered emotional setback.

but he didn't. I finally asked him why. He said he didn't like to wear it to work. Even if that were the reason, shouldn't he afford the courtesy of wearing it on week-ends when we are with friends, and relatives? I've reminded him several times, but it hasn't done any good.

I thought of leaving my wedding ring off, too, thinking, "What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," and vice versa, but then I decided, "What's rotten for one is also rotten for the other." Got any suggestions?

DEBATING: You don't say what kind of work your husband does, but if he works around machinery he has a legitimate reason to leave his ring at home. And as for his doing the "courtesy" of wearing a wedding ring at other times, if you have to remind him repeatedly, it's not so much a "courtesy" as a "command."

If I were you, I'd wear mine, and skip it.

Suit Preference Signal Needed

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Why didn't South use Blackwood on today's hand to check for aces? For the same reason that you never see the hero of a Western movie jump into his modern car and ride off into the sunset. Today's hand was played before Easley Blackwood had invented his convention.

Hands like this one made some quantitative method of asking for aces an essential of successful bidding.

This hand is not shown for that reason but because South had no trouble making his slam in spite of missing two aces. East played his deuce of hearts and West studied what to lead at trick two. He shifted to a club, whereupon South proceeded to draw trumps and eventually discard his jack of diamonds on dummy's king of hearts.

We don't think much of West's club lead. South had jumped to the slam without any top spade honor but the ace. He had shown up with a heart loser. It would be most unlikely that he would bid a slam with a possible trump loser and without the ace of either unbid suit.

Today we would not find South in that slam contract, but, if he did get there, another modern invention called the suit preference signal would enable East to tell West what to lead.

East would play his queen of hearts on West's ace. West would see that East could not possibly want a heart continuation. Therefore, that high card, the queen of diamonds, would be calling for the lead of the higher off-suit. Diamonds are higher than clubs. West would lead a diamond.

A work of warning is necessary here. The suit preference signal is fine but don't carry it to absurd extremes. Most of the time, you play a high card

After the facts of the lurid crime were made public, many alarmed citizens, feared for their own safety, rushed out to purchase firearms.

The newspaper reporters gathered around the detective to listen to his detailed account of the events leading up to a lurid kidnapping.

The lurid report of the recent fire, a tragedy which killed five people, was broadcasted over the radio last evening.

Grammys--Delightful Time

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual Grammy Awards show is usually a forthright no-nonsense program that comes along months after the awards have been passed out. It can, therefore, skip all the build-up and envelope-opening and present a tuneful summary of the season's top recordings.

More Sleek, Colorful

The NBC special Wednesday night was no exception, although it was more sleek, more colorful and more sophisticated than in past years. It concentrated for the most part on music and musicians.

The hour show opened with the Fifth Dimension singing their hit, "Up, Up and Away," voted best record by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences. The tune, which certainly is catchy, has had its effect considerably watered down since it has been adopted as the musical signature of an airline—although every time the number is played, it is like a built-in plug.

Bobbie Gentry and Glen Campbell, both multiple winners, came along with their hit numbers. John Hartford sang "Gentle on My Mind" which he wrote. Lou Rawls was engaged with his "Dead End Street." Cannonball Adderley and his quintet had a quietly effective instrumental number.

From a visual standpoint, one of the most effective numbers was built around Campbell's singing of "By the Time I Get to Phoenix." It involved some trick photography and had the performer literally playing two roles on the same screen. However, the tricky photography got a little out of hand in one Bobbie Gentry number that showed the singer's whole figure as she sat playing her guitar and at the same time a huge closeup of her face.

Bill Dana spent most of last summer traveling 15,000 miles around the nation filming "Discover America with Jose Jimenez" which will be an NBC special on Friday, May 18. Most of the program was shot in interesting but off-beat places.

One day he ran into an acquaintance, a small-time night club entertainer, who asked Dana where he was working. Dana told him about a Pennsylvania Dutch folk festival, Hannibal, Missouri events patronized by the local high school

ROCKY GREETING — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller waves to University of Minnesota students as he is mobbed on his arrival at the University. Rockefeller, in the second foray into the Midwest of the his week-old presidential campaign, called for "creative programs" to rebuild the nation's cities and make them "decent and productive places to live and work." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Next on Political Agenda: Nebraska Primary Encounter

Presidential candidates focused on Nebraska today and the second face-to-face primary encounter between Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy.

McCarthy had no time to spare in his effort to bounce back from a defeat by Kennedy in Indiana Tuesday, but he campaigns again in Nebraska today after returning overnight to Washington on unspecified urgent personal business.

The Minnesota senator's wife, Abigail, is ailing, but aides would not confirm that was the reason for McCarthy's sudden return.

Before leaving Wednesday night, McCarthy renewed his challenge to debate Kennedy "man to man and face to face" before the Nebraska balloting next Tuesday.

"After all," he said, "the Kennedy tradition is one of challenging and debating. He did it with (Sen.) Kenneth B. Keating in New York and, of course, his brother did it with Richard Nixon in 1960."

McCarthy accepted the invitation of Lincoln television station KOLN to appear Sunday on a program with Kennedy and the third active Democratic presidential hopeful, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Neither the Kennedy nor Humphrey camps has yet responded. Humphrey is not entered in the Nebraska contest.

In other developments:

Nelson Rockefeller—The New York governor, in remarks today at Kansas State College in Manhattan, called for replacement of the "arbitrary and inequitable draft" with a lottery-type system. He also urged the voting age be reduced to 18, and a national post-Vietnam committee be formed to smooth the conversion from a wartime to a peacetime economy. In a speech Wednesday at the University of Minnesota, Rockefeller told an enthusiastic audience of 6,500 that his first priority as president would be to settle the Vietnam war through negotiations. "We can do this on an honorable basis," he said. "We can't do it by escalating the military effort."

Robert F. Kennedy—During a brief visit to New York before flying to Nebraska, the New York senator said an objective analysis of his Indiana campaign would clearly show that he did not buy the election. "I visited every city of over 5,000 population and the figures were not out of line with what Sen. McCarthy spent," he said. McCarthy charged during the Indiana campaign that Kennedy was spending huge sums.

Hubert H. Humphrey—The vice president told a United Auto Workers convention in Atlantic City that America needs a system of "income maintenance" to support its poor. He stopped short of endorsing a guaranteed income for all Americans, but his stance brought him in line with Kennedy and McCarthy, who advocate some form of income supplement for the poor.

George A. Wallace—Oklahoma Secretary of State John Rogers certified the former Alabama governor's American party for a spot on the state's November general election ballot, clearing the way for Wallace to be listed as a presidential candidate.

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia and four loyal Communist allies pledged today to maintain a solid ideological front in a surprise summit held without the Soviet bloc's two mavericks—Czechoslovakia and Romania. The Flexalum® Aluminum Siding "Write your own ticket" sale!

Do you really have the slightest idea how much it would cost to have Flexalum Aluminum Siding on your home? Most people don't. So they go on repainting their homes every few years...and end up spending substantially more in the long run...for substantially less than what Flexalum Aluminum Siding would have given them.

For instance, did you know that Flexalum Siding ends repainting for up to thirty years...or more? And that its incredibly durable 6-stage finish simply will not peel, chip, blister or flake?

Maintenance? Virtually none. An occasional rainshower keeps it sparkling, new looking. (If you live in the desert, turn on the garden hose once in a blue moon.)

And Flexalum Aluminum Siding doesn't have a "metallic" look. It beautifies your home by looking like brand new, freshly-painted siding, period!

But above and beyond giving you decades of built-in beauty, Flexalum Siding adds other values for the lifetime of your home, including an optional, patented installation method that provides a permanent insulating airblanket between the siding and your former siding. You'll actually be noticeably cooler in summer, and warmer in winter (while you save on fuel bills)!

When you complete your estimate, we'll complete ours. And you'll discover that it's not a question of how much Flexalum Aluminum Siding will cost you...but how much it will save!
